SHOOTING IN COURTHOUSE

RELEASES BARNEY'S LAWYER IN $1,000

Thomas F. Murphy, Former Harvard Athlete, Goes on Trial June 11 for Aiding Escape

The next step in unravelling the automobile theft tangle, brought about through the alleged slaying of Patrolman Charles E. Deininger by Herman L. Barney, was expected today in the arrest of a prominent Cambridge citizen. This man is suspected of having sold second-hand automobiles to members of the Cambridge police force.

Thomas F. Murphy, counsel for Herman L. Barney, whose arrest on the charge of assisting his client, alleged murderer of Policeman Charles Deininger, to escape from Charles street jail was published exclusively in the Sporting Extra of the American yesterday, will go on trial June 11, it was decided today.

Murphy, who is a former Harvard athlete, was arraigned before Judge Connelly in the Brighton District Court today and after pleading not guilty was released on bail of $1,000.

In order to escape the newspaper photographers who were awaiting him outside, Murphy slipped into the office of Clerk Cunningham and then, climbing through a window, dashed to the automobile of his partner, Francis Jurgius.

The proceedings in court today occupied only a few minutes. Murphy acted as his own counsel. He said he was not guilty and was ready to face a hearing tomorrow. The government was not as well prepared, apparently, as a continuance was asked for ten days. Following a conference of police officials the date for the hearing was set.

TRAGEDY STARTLES COURTS

Alien With First Papers in His Pockets Fires Bullet Into His Temple

Meleon Artunoff, believed by the police to be out on $10,000 bail from Lynn District Court as a fugitive from justice from Arizona, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the Suffolk County Courthouse on Pemberton square. He shot himself in the left temple and died an hour later in the Relief Hospital.

The shooting created excitement through the courthouse. Court attaches, police and the spectators who daily flock to the court sessions crowded into the corridor.

The man is about fifty years old and was born in Austria, according to the naturalization papers. He was sitting alone on a bench at the end of the corridor leading to the Superior Criminal Court.

Final Flight of the NC-4 Postponed Again

By International News Service.

Washington, May 29.—The Navy Department early today was without knowledge of Lieutenant-Commander A. C. Read's plans for continuing his flight from Lisbon, Portugal, to Plymouth, England. The last dispatch, received at 10:30 last night, carried the brief announcement that the NC-4 would not start today.

It had been planned to jump off for Plymouth early today, weather conditions permitting, and what caused the decision to postpone the flight Navy Department officials could not say.

CONGRESS IS ASKED TO CONTINUE PHONE RATES

Washington, May 29.—Congress was asked today by N. C. Kingsbury, vice-president of the Bell System, to continue the present phone rates until there has been a complete readjustment of existing phone conditions. Appearing before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, Kingsbury urged that Congress "correct the blunder it made in leaving in doubt the rate-making power under governmental control."

WALTHAM WATCH CO. RAISES PAY 10 PER CENT.

Notice was posted in the Waltham Watch Factory that a general increase of from 5 to 10 per cent. in the salary of all employes would go into effect June 9. The Waltham Watch Factory employs about 4,000 persons and has an annual pay roll of $4,000,000.

U. S. TO SELL SURPLUS MEAT

War Dept. Offers 100,000,000 Pounds in U. S.; Bids Asked From Charitable Institutions

By International News Service.

Washington, May 29.—The War Department's surplus stocks of meat—totalling more than 100,000,000 pounds—will be offered for sale in America.

The director of sales of the department today announced that invitations were being sent to some 1,200 of the largest hospitals and charitable and penal institutions to submit bids for any portion of this surplus, which now is being held in ten warehouses distributed throughout the country.

The announcement was made without comment, but it was generally believed the decision was influenced by the widespread criticism which followed the recently announced intention of the department to sell its surplus meats to European nations.

The surplus holdings of the department total 142,000,000 pounds, of which 47,000,000 pounds are bacon, in crates and twelve-pound cans; 27,500,000 tons beef, in cans ranging from twelve ounces to six pounds, and 28,500,000 corned beef hash, in one and two-pound containers.

It has been the policy of the War Department to put its surplus stocks on the market in such a way as they will least affect the markets. Officials stated that the meat supply was in such a form that it could not be placed on the open market, and that they figured if it were disposed of to institutions where much of it could be kept for a long period the transaction would have but little effect, if any, upon the general meat situation of the country.

80 American Soldiers Lost in Explosion on the Rhine

By International News Service.

London, May 29.—Eighty American soldiers of the Army of Occupation on the Rhine are missing as the result of a fire and explosion, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Cologne today.

The fire broke out in a large building occupied by troops and spread rapidly. Flying embers exploded a nearby ammunition dump.

BRANDEIS GOING ABROAD TO AID JEWS

Washington, May 29.—Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court will leave for Europe not later than June 10, it was learned here today. He will go first to Paris and then to Palestine.

The objects of his visit are:

To see if the creation of a separate Jewish state in Palestine is possible.

To make certain that equal rights and privileges are accorded Jews in Poland, Galicia, Rumania and other countries where pogroms have lately taken place.

While in Paris, Justice Brandeis will confer with President Wilson, and no doubt will take up with him proposed methods to be employed by the United States in ending the massacre of thousands of Jewish men, women and children in Europe.

Acting Secretary of State Frank Polk has cabled Hugh Gibson, American minister to Poland, to send by cable complete summary of his data on the massacres which had taken place up to April 1.

MILITARY TRAINING URGED

Baker and March Before House Committee Tell of Nation's Army Needs

Washington, May 29.—The future of the American army in France is still undetermined, Secretary of War Baker and General March, chief of staff, today told the House military affairs committee.

On the request of President Wilson, two divisions which were scheduled to be withdrawn from the Army of Occupation will be kept in Europe, General March stated. It is now the plan of the War Department to maintain five divisions in Europe until peace terms have been definitely settled.

The War Department has not been informed what the military obligations of the United States will be after the peace treaty, General March declared.

Both the Secretary of War and General March insisted that it would be necessary to maintain an army of 500,000 during the coming year, although they anticipated that the army may be reduced below that number before July 1, 1920.

"I want it understood that does not refer to any permanent military policy," said Secretary Baker. "It merely applies to the present situation."

Police Don Summer Garb With Gray Top Pieces

A radical change took place today in the Boston police department. It affected 1,500 patrolmen and sergeants.

The change was ordered so that these men would be improved from a standpoint both of comfort and efficiency.

They went into Summer clothing.

That's all. But it meant a heap to the day men as the sun rose higher and higher and the sidewalks became hotter and hotter. It was the annual change from heavy to light raiment. The night men start in this evening.

The heavy Winter helmet is replaced by the helmet of Summer gray, light in weight and color. The Summer "blouse" succeeds the Winter coat. The police call it "blouse," but it is a light-weight sack coat of uniform blue.

WILSON TO MAKE HIS VISIT TO BELGIUM SOON

Paris, May 29.—President Wilson sent a message today to King Albert of Belgium, assuring him of his intention to visit Brussels within the next few days. The President denounced false reports circulated in anti-American circles that he had decided to slight Belgium by returning to America without visiting the gallant little country. Assurances were given that Belgium has the strongest place in the President's heart for the heroic part she played in the war.

Hottest May 29 on Weather Man's Records

GOING UP.

The thermometer reached 82 degrees at 1:30 today, and as the weather bard have—going still higher. Same thing tomorrow, he wails.

This is the hottest day of the year and the hottest May 29 known to the weather bureau. The nearest approach was in 1911, when it tipped 88 degrees.

The hottest May day in the history of the bureau was May 26, 1880, when the mercury reached 97 degrees. And he predicts that today might ever beat that to a frazzle, because it's still going up.

FISH PRICES LOWEST FOR MANY MONTHS

Prices of fish were the lowest today at the Fish Pier than they have been for many months with the exception of a brief period in March. More than 1,000 barrels of fresh mackerel arrived at the pier today and was sold from the smack to wholesalers at seven cents a pound. Haddock was similarly sold at twelve cents a pound, large cod, three to three and one-half cents, market cod, two cents, pollock, two cents a pound.

DELAYED INQUEST FOR BOWKER IN WALTHAM

An inquest was held today in the Waltham Court for Lyman Bowker who was killed September 18, 1916, when he fell from a car on Main street. It recently became known that no inquest had been held at the time. By a strange coincidence, the local court was also notified by the district-attorney that no inquest had been held for Joseph Ryan, a Watertown boy, who was killed May 12, 1916, when his bicycle was struck by a street car. The court will hold an inquest as soon as witnesses can be got together.

TEXT OF GERMAN COUNTER PROPOSALS HANDED TO THE BIG FOUR

ENTENTE TO HASTEN REPLY

Possibly Not More Than 48 Hours Will Be Given Foe for Final Answer

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
Correspondent of the International News Service.

Paris, May 29.—The Big Four today received two copies of the German counter-proposals to the peace treaty, and immediately began considering them. Experts upon the inter-allied commissions were called in and work upon the allied reply was begun at once.

The reply will be handed to Germany very shortly and is expected to contain material modifications of the terms of peace as originally drafted.

When the treaty is again handed to the Germans they will be told that the door to negotiation is closed until they accept the terms in principle and agree to sign. It is understood that they will be allowed only a very brief time in which to reply, possibly not more than six forty-eight hours.

The allied peace delegates are very much interested at the fresh display of discord—by all the Germans in publishing the text of their counter proposals and sending it broadcast before the delivery to them.

In discussing this action, delegates today revealed the fact that Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau did not rise to his feet in addressing the allied delegates at the first meeting at Versailles, and other little acts of unpleasant studied discourtesy.

A plenary session of the peace conference was held this afternoon and the text of the Austrian treaty, which, in fact, will be handed to the Austrian delegates tomorrow, was communicated to the smaller nations attending the allied and associated powers. Captain Tardieu interpreted the text, which closely follows that of the German treaty insofar as the surrender of Austria's resources and her shipping is concerned.

Many Germans Favor Return of Nation to Monarchical Government

By ALFRED G. ANDERSEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, May 28, via London, May 29.—The counter-terms of the German peace envoys as formalized are divided into seven chapters, it was learned today. They are grouped as follows:

First, League of Nations.
Second, territorial.
Third, occupied regions.
Fourth, colonial and financial.
Fifth, economic.
Sixth, shipping, railroads and waterways.
Seventh, means of fulfillment.

The document consists of about 10,000 words. It begins with a review of the declarations of the entente statesmen and "Germany's right" to enter the League of Nations on equal equality and reconstruction in accordance with President Wilson's fourteen principles.

"Germany unqualifiedly rejects the treaty because contrary to the trial of the ex-Kaiser and other officials," declared Herr Naumann, private secretary of the foreign office, in a statement to the correspondents.

In speaking of terms, Herr Naumann said: "You would perhaps be surprised to learn how closely we coincide with entente views.

"Many German people—political leaders, subordinate government officials, professional men and farmers—want the return of a monarchical form of government in Germany, but they do not want the ex-Kaiser to come back.

This interpread view was established by a series of interviews which have been secured during the past few days. Many of the rank and file are not satisfied with the republic, for the pomp and glitter of Kaiserdom appeal to the German mind.

But—offsetting the pessimistic prophets, Premier Philip Scheidemann says that the republic is here to stay.

Of any attempt to restore the monarchy by force of arms there seems little prospect. The out-and-out monarchists are apparently bidding their time, hoping to take advantage of a natural evolution.

The flight of the former Kaiser into Holland is regarded on all sides as a cowardly act, and if the monarchy should be restored it is most likely that the crown would go to a Prince of some German royal family. If Wilhelm comes back it will be as a private citizen.

Some of the most important of the interviews follow:

Premier Philip Scheidemann—"I consider the ex-Kaiser finally disposed of. He would never be a menace to the German republic if he should come back."

Friedrich Naumann, president of the Democratic party—"The former Kaiser has not been excluded from Germany, so the question of whether or not he should be permitted to return has not been considered."

Dr. Maximilian Pfeiffer, national secretary of the Central party—"The return of the ex-Kaiser will depend chiefly upon the extent to which he was responsible for the war."

Heroic Band on NC-3 Laughed at Death for Three Days

By COMMANDER HOLDEN C. RICHARDSON,
Pilot of United States Navy Seaplane NC-3.
Copyright, 1919, by Universal Service.

Lisbon, May 29.—As I sit here in Lisbon writing of our experience during the three days we were lost at sea after we had been forced to make a landing on account of dense fog the whole dreadful chapter seems like a nightmare.

Just what superhuman effort enabled us to navigate our little shell, buffeted by thirty-foot waves, through heavy squalls of wind and rain until we finally made our way to our goal, Ponta Delgada, under our own power, I do not know. It probably was the excitement of my comrades more than anything else.

The most maddening thing of all was to hear the wireless orders going to the destroyers directing them to search for us and to be unable to break in with our own wireless to let them know that they were looking in the wrong quarter. It was this that made us realize that our only chance for reaching land in safety lay in our own efforts.

THIRSTY AND HUNGRY IN 3 DAYS.

Appetites were not very keen during that three-day ordeal, because we were all on edge. As I have already written, we had sandwiches, candy and chocolate, but everything was water-soaked. All the food I tasted in the three days was three soft, water-soaked jelly sandwiches.

We were up against it for water, so we tapped the radiators and drank greedily of the oily fluid. I never knew greasy water could taste so good. Then some of the fellows made coffee, using the radiator water. It was greasy, but it was good.

As soon as we got ashore at Ponta Delgada and our nerves had relaxed after the long tension we made up for lost time in eating. I cleaned up an omelet made from six eggs, and the rest of the crew got away with enormous quantities of ham and eggs.

DRUG MIGHT GIVE HIM AWAKE.

Drowsiness was our greatest trouble during the long drift. A few hours before we made our landing on the sea I found myself nodding and realized that my desire to sleep and had recourse to the strychnine tablets we carried for the purpose of the first aid kits. An hour and a half later I was again on the verge of falling asleep, so I took a second dose of strychnine and had no further difficulty until we made the landing.

I cannot describe the mental agony of the commander as he fully realized the seriousness of our position and his own responsibility, and yet was unable to help us. He told me afterward that when I took the drug which relieved me.

One little touch of humor relieved the long vigil. On the second night after a day spent in struggling with adverse winds and fighting and clawing to keep afloat, Commander Towers fell asleep in the cockpit, and when I went back to find the toes of both feet numb with cold through the shoes he could not understand. I explained to him, which pointed out that his shoe tips had been immersed in water during his sleep.

Despite our perilous situation and the hardships we had to undergo and at one minute, the whole gang managed to get a hearty laugh out of the incident. It was a tribute to the ability to laugh at a joke in the very jaws of death that kept us alive and brought us into port. It certainly was a game crowd.

There was never a whimper from any member of the crew as we were drenched to the skin with spray and rain, numb with cold and nerves on edge through every hour of the day and night.

ONE OF CREW NEAR DEATH.

A tragedy was narrowly averted after we had gained the shelter of Ponta Delgada harbor. While whistles were blowing and bells rang out and men were cheering wildly to see us make port after we had been given up for lost, and boats were charging madly about the bay trying to render assistance, Lieutenant Breese, with his mind apparently numb for lack of sleep, had climbed out to fix something near the propeller.

He was unconsciously backing into the whirring blades, which might have cut him into shreds, when Commander Towers saw his danger and sounded a warning, saving him when within an ace of death.

We saw one beautiful sight during the flight from Newfoundland. As we were abeam of station ship No. 10, we found ourselves suddenly thick ahead and climbed to an altitude of about 2,500 feet, where the air was smooth and clear. The moon was high and the sky, already lighted by the dawn, presented the phenomenon of a complete rainbow, and the shadow of our plane was outlined by the moonlight on the surface of the clouds beneath us. These clouds extended as far as the eye could see, like a vast snow field.

CLOSE TO OTHER PLANES.

Earlier in the same night the combination of moonlight and cloud banks had hampered us greatly, as it gave us a badly skewed horizon and blinded us to some extent, by making the instruments less visible. Because of defects in our lighting arrangements we had no running lights burning and NC-1 came close astern until we warned her off by flashing a pocket lamp. Her running lights were showing and she made a pretty picture in the overcast sky.

At another time we got into the wash of the propellers of NC-4 and had quite rough going of it for a while.

Like my comrades, my only regret is that we ran into such bad weather. It was this alone that kept us from finishing the flight. It was this that sent the NC-1 to the bottom, and it was mostly due to luck that the NC-4 sighted land and got down in the nick of time to avoid it.

Our engines worked excellently all the way through. The weather was our only trouble. The sky steadily grew hazier after we left Newfoundland.

"QUICK! FOLLOW ME!"

"A moment he resisted. She shook him in the fervor of her desire and strove to pull him towards her and after her. With the feeling that it was some unusual game, such as he might meet with on the coast of central America, he yielded."—From "Hearts of Three," Jack London's last novel, which begins next Monday, June 2, in the Boston American.

Congress to Reward and Recognize Feat of Read and His Crew

Washington, May 29.—Recognition and rewards befitting their epochal achievement in flying across the Atlantic Ocean will be extended to Lieutenant Commander A. C. Read and other members of the crew of the naval seaplane NC-4. Only the form the reward is to take remains to be decided.

This became certain when Secretary Daniels declared unqualifiedly in favor of the proposal, and resolutions endorsing it were introduced in both Houses of Congress.

Senator Moses of New Hampshire introduced the following resolution in the Senate:

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled that the thanks of Congress be and the same are hereby tendered to Lieutenant-Commander Albert Cushing Read, United States Navy, for his success in accomplishing the first trans-Atlantic aeroplane flight."

Adoption of this resolution would give Commander Read the privilege of the floor of both the Senate and House.

Representative Hicks of New York, a member of the House Naval Affairs Committee, introduced in the House a resolution proposing the thanks of Congress and a congressional medal of honor be awarded to the commanders and crews of all three of the planes which participated in the trans-Atlantic flight.

Secretary Daniels said there was no question that there should be an expression of appreciation from Congress for the brilliant exploit.

"What is giving us most concern is the form that this recognition should take," said the secretary.

CHARGE BARNEY LAWYER AIDED ESCAPE

Attorney Murphy Charges "Rank Injustice" Before Arraignment in Brighton Court

was set at June 11, and Murphy was released on bonds.

Attorney Murphy, who was arrested shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday in his office in the Sears Building, characterized the act of the police as a "rank injustice."

CALLS ARREST A SURPRISE.

"The arrest was a complete surprise to me," he said. "This must be apparent to anyone familiar with the facts in the case, knowing that I have responsible in arranging for Barney's surrender when he was in New York, to be now charged with aiding and assisting in his escape.

"I am at a loss to understand the motive behind such a proceeding. I shall insist on an immediate hearing and I have that at such a hearing I shall be fully exonerated and that such accusations shall be shown to be absolutely without foundation."

The warrant on which Murphy was arrested was secured in the Brighton District Court at almost the same hour Murphy, in company with the attorney for Dillon and Hurley, alleged accessories in the Deininger murder, were arguing for separate trials and continuances before Judge Callahan.

Murphy is stoutly defended by all who know him. They assert that his record is clean and that his reputation as an attorney and as a man and member of the Cambridge School Board are all in his favor. He was formerly a varsity baseball player at Harvard and is well known as a football official.

ARREST CREATES SENSATION.

His arrest created a sensation in Cambridge and Boston. Persons declare that a mistake has been made and that Murphy's only connection with the case was as an attorney and as counsel approached by the court to defend Barney. They cite the fact that it was Murphy who made arrangements for Barney's surrender in New York and who went to that city to get him. All these facts, they claim, tend to point toward his innocence of the present charge.

Barney's Sweetheart 18, James G. O'Brien 21, at Time of Their Marriage

Herman L. Barney's sweetheart, Marian F. O'Brien, was married to James G. O'Brien on September 15, 1915, by the Rev. Thomas Golding in the rectory of Our Lady of Lourdes church, Jamaica Plain.

The marriage record on file at the city registry department says that she was eighteen years old at the time and that she was born in Old Town, Me., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grant. She gave her address as No. 383 Poplar street, Roslindale, and asked for certificate that she was accredited in the record as saying she was twenty-one.

O'Brien's age was given as twenty-one. He was born in Boston and at the time of the marriage lived at No. 2312 Washington street, Jamaica Plain. His occupation at the time was a barber. The witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. James F. O'Brien. His wife was a prominent performer here and at the suggestion of O'Brien's mother she attended a mission for women at their Lady of Lourdes church, Jamaica Plain, and received instructions from one of the priests there.

GILLETT TO AID ARMY VOLUNTEERS

Springfield, May 29.—Speaker Gillett of the House of Representatives has promised to take up with the War Department the apparent injustice of the police advocate general's ruling whereby United States army employes who volunteered for military service in the war are discriminated against in favor of employes who were drafted in the matter of re-employment. A protest against the system has been made by the chamber.

LAUNCH GILLIS, DESTROYER, IN NEW STYLE

Two Sponsors for Fiftieth Craft of That Type Built at Fore River Yards

The destroyer Gillis, the fiftieth craft of that type to be completed by the Fore River Corporation, and forecasting the additional distinction of having two sponsors, was launched today at Quincy.

A large number of prominent persons including the Governor and officers of the army and navy, witnessed the launching. They were guests at a luncheon at the Neighborhood Club afterward.

A unique innovation was the christening before the vessel slid down the ways, the champagne being broken over the bow by Miss Helen Irving Murray and Mrs. Josephine T. Smith, a few minutes before the blocks were knocked out. This was done in order that neither of the sponsors might infer the mark.

Carrying huge bouquets, the women performed its name upon the new destroyer, which, to the music of "The Star Spangled Banner," slipped majestically into the water.

The launching was of particular importance as it marked the completion of the war program put into effect eighteen months ago. The craft was named in honor of two naval heroes, who accounted for the two sponsors. Miss Murray, whose home is in Bingham, N. Y., and who is a student at Bryn Mawr, is a granddaughter of Rear-Admiral James H. Gillis, and Mrs. Smith is a niece of Commodore John P. Gillis.

Among the invited guests were Governor and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Mayor and Mrs. Andrew J. Peters, Major-General and Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards, Admiral C. W. McIlvoy, Admiral H. L. Dunn, Mayor and Mrs. Joseph L. Whitton, Captain and Mrs. W. N. Rush, Brigadier-General and Mrs. Ruckman, Commodore W. W. Buchanan, Commander and Mrs. H. C. Dinger, Superintending Constructor and Mrs. Henry Williams, Assistant Naval Constructor and Mrs. H. H. Hilliard, Commander and Mrs. T. A. Kittinger, Constructor and Mrs. J. M. [illegible] and Captain and Mrs. A. E. Watson.

were standing a few feet from him, saw him reach swiftly into a pocket and draw a revolver. Before they could interfere the man had shot himself in the left temple.

The shot rang loudly through all corridors and hallways of the large courthouse structure. After the self-wounded man had been taken out to the ambulance the police questioned the crowd for any information of the man or his reasons for self-destruction, but without success.

This note was found in the man's belt, written on the back of his naturalization papers:

PROPOSES MONUMENT TO NEGRO SOLDIERS IN WAR

Washington, D. C., May 29.—Commemoration of the valor of the negro soldiers who served in the wars of the United States by a $100,000 monument to be erected in Washington, D. C., was proposed in a bill introduced in the House by Representative Sherwood of Illinois.

Liberty, Keynote of Wilson Memorial Day Message

By International News Service.

Washington, May 29.—The following Memorial Day message from President Wilson was given out at the White House today:

"My fellow countrymen:

"Memorial Day wears this year an added significance, and I wish, if only by message, to take part with you in its observance and in expressing the sentiments which it inevitably suggests. In observing the day we commemorate not only the reunion of our country, but also now the liberation of the world from one of the most serious dangers to which free government and free life of men were ever exposed. We have buried the gallant and now immortal men who died in this great war of liberation with a new sense of consecration.

"Our thoughts and purposes now are consecrated to the maintainence of the liberty of the world and the union of its people in a single comradeship of liberty and of right. It was for this that our men consciencously offered their lives. They came to the field of battle with the high spirit and pure heart of crusaders. We must never forget the duty that their sacrifice has laid upon us of fulfilling their hopes and their purposes to the utmost. This, it seems to me, is the impressive lesson and the inspiring mandate of the day.

BAY STATE LED NEW ENGLAND IN LOAN

Subscriptions of $252,364,450 From 466,175 Different Subscribers

Official figures, showing the number of subscribers and amount of subscriptions to the Victory Loan in the New England States, are as follows:

	Subscribers	Subscriptions.
Maine	53,476	$18,837,700
New Hampshire	60,137	16,867,050
Vermont	29,317	11,883,100
Rhode Island	66,443	60,200,950
Connecticut	152,790	92,210,400
Massachusetts	456,175	252,364,450
	817,822	$447,225,750

The United States Treasury Department has called in all five of the Liberty Loans $19,000,000,000. Of this amount, $1,725,000,000 was given to the First Federal Reserve District as its quota.

Throughout the country the subscriptions to the five Liberty Loans amounted to $24,248,000,000, of which the First Federal Reserve District subscribed $2,221,000,000.

The allotments by the Treasury Department for the entire country have been $22,404,000,000, of which $2,031,000,000 have been allotted to the First Federal Reserve District.

It is important to realize that the Liberty Loan Committee of New England has disposed of this vast quantity of government securities within six days less than two years. The first Liberty Loan began May 16, 1917, and the Fifth Liberty Loan closed May 10, 1919. In the same period the Treasury Department has sold, in anticipation of receipts from Liberty Loans, certificates of indebtedness amounting to $17,122,000,000, of which the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston has sold in New England $1,263,000,000.

BILL GIVES MAIMED HEROES MORE MONEY

Washington, May 29.—To soldiers who lost an arm or a leg or both in the European war, increased compensation is provided in a bill introduced by Senator Nelson, Minnesota, and referred to the pensions committee. Men who have lost one or more members would receive from $75 to $180 a month, and those who lost both arms and both legs would be paid $150 monthly.

DENY MEXICANS RIGHT TO CROSS BORDER

U. S. Must First Have Assurance of Safety of Americans; Fear of Arousing Villa

By International News Service.

Washington, May 29.—The United States has informed the Mexican government that it must withhold, for the present, permission for Mexican troops to pass through Texas on their way to Chihuahua to protect Americans there from the Villistas, it was announced at the State Department today.

The frank statement that such permission might result in arousing Villa to increased activities, which would further jeopardize the Americans pending the arrival of the troops, was said to have been expressed in the communication.

Not until there are definite assurances that the Americans will not be harmed while the troops are on the way will permission for them to cross over American soil be given, officials made it clear.

CITY BUDGET APPROVED, EMPLOYES PAID OFF

The city budget for 1919-1920 was signed by Mayor Peters and became effective shortly after noon today. Only $14,000 was cut from the budget as originally submitted. The committee on appropriations had a special meeting after the signing of the document, to accept the budget. This action averted a situation in which city employes might have had to wait for their pay. The city treasurer's office was open three hours later than usual this afternoon, and all city employes received their pay on time.

U. S. TO KEEP FIVE DIVISIONS IN EUROPE

Baker and March Tell House Committee Army of 500,000 Is Needed

plies to the coming fiscal year. During the last of the year we will have more than 500,000 men, and very late in the year less than 500,000.

FOR MILITARY TRAINING.

"I do not wish at this time to suggest anything in the nature of a permanent military establishment, but I would like to see a plan for the establishment of military training in our high schools, colleges and universities carried out."

"The plan would not apply to any school system below the high school," he was asked.

"It would not," he replied.

Secretary Baker declared that demobilization was now far ahead of the War Department's program.

"Between 200,000 and 300,000 more men have been discharged than we had hoped to have demobilized at this time," he said.

"The new army should have great educational facilities," he continued.

Recommendations were made by the Secretary for the purchase of Wright Field at Dayton, O., for a permanent aviation base. He declared Langley Field at Newport News, Va., had been found unfit for this. Purchase of Wright Field would eventually save the government two or three million dollars, he added.

RECOGNIZED POPULAR DEMAND.

Secretary Baker stated that he "appreciated that there was a demand on the part of the country and of the men themselves that the country's war army be demobilized" and that the War Department was "responding to that demand with every facility and all rapidity possible."

He added that complete demobilization was required by Congressional act, within four months after either the proclamation of peace by the President or by the adhesion of the United States to the peace treaty.

"Of course, in the event of any unexpected change in the international situation it might become necessary for me to ask Congress to change the act," he said.

HUSBAND SUPPORTS HIS WIFE

Pittsfield, May 28.—Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, has made satisfactory provision for the support of his wife, Katharine Livingston Mellen, and all litigation has ended.

The decree of Judge Edward T. Slocum of the Probate Court, granted September 28 last, finding that Mrs. Mellen had deserted her husband and that he was justified in living apart from his wife, has been affirmed by Justice John C. Crosby of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, to which Mrs. Mellen appealed. Her action for divorce in which she asked for $500,000 alimony has been dismissed also by agreement.

There is nothing on the court records here to indicate the amount of Mr. Mellen's settlement upon his wife, but it is said to be no larger than the sum he was willing to have given her before the "Fondly Kitten" letters were published last September. There will be no reconciliation.

FOR CHILDREN'S SAKE.

Mr. Mellen said today he was willing to settle the case chiefly to save his children from the unpleasant notoriety that a further hearing would entail. He was anxious to keep the case out of the courts to protect them.

Miss Katharine Livingston Mellen, who has been living with her mother in New York and was her mother's constant companion during the trial, is to spend the Summer with her father at Council Grove, in Stockbridge. There also will be the other four children, Misses Priscilla and Candace Mellen, Amory and Raymond Mellen. They are to reach Stockbridge as soon as schools close in New York.

On cross-examination before Judge Slocum last September Mr. Mellen testified that he had settled an income of $100 a month on Miss Katharine L. Mellen and he had given her $100 on her birthday and at Christmas.

Mr. Mellen and Miss Katharine L. Livingston were married November 15, 1893, on the latter's twenty-first birthday. He was forty-three. Their first child was born August 9, 1894. There were seven children in all, five of whom are living.

TOLD OF ALTERCATION.

Mr. Mellen testified that his Federal tax return showed an income of $53,000 a year. In his story of the alleged attack made upon him by Mrs. Mellen, which caused a sensation at the hearing, Mr. Mellen said:

"She was darning one of her own stockings when she made a lunge at me and tried to strike me twice on the head with the marble egg. She did hit my little finger and both arms. I pushed her back with the palm of my hand striking her on the nose, making it bleed. Priscilla, my little daughter, cried. Mrs. Mellen went upstairs and I followed to apologize, as I believe that a man never should strike a woman."

The trouble between Mr. and Mrs. Mellen began over an alleged infatuation by Mrs. Mellen for H. Douglas Brown, who for several years was assistant manager of the Vanderbilt Hotel in New York. Their friendship started in July, 1912. All the "fondly kitten" letters were addressed to him. In these letters she disclosed the secrets of the Mellen household and the business troubles of Mr. Mellen, including his fears that he would be obliged to resign from the presidency of the New Haven road.

A New Haven astrologer also entered into the case. In summing up, John W. H. Crim of New York, attorney for Mr. Mellen, read to the court a letter that Mrs. Brown had written to this astrologer and a copy of which was found in a steel box in Mrs. Mellen's chamber at Stockbridge. Mrs. Brown wrote in part:

"My husband is trying to free himself from me. He says he loves another woman, that he never has and never will love me, and that this woman is and always will be the woman for him. I want you to make him love me. Please do not misunderstand me. While I have cared very much for him in the past I despise him now and want him to love me and live with me. Then when I am sure of his love I would scorn him and send him back to the other woman. I am sure she would not want him after he has left me. I ask you again: Can you do this? Will you do this?"

"DOUGLAS DEAR" LETTERS.

Mrs. Mellen generally addressed Brown as "Douglas Dear." In one of her letters she wrote:

"I don't always want to do what you say. I rebel, for I have always had my own way, but I don't think you will find me hard to manage. I may fuss and fume, stamp my feet; perhaps sometimes I may cry; I have done it, dear, after you have sent me to my room. Sometimes I walk the floor of my apartment to keep the tears back, or I am so cross at being sent up. I have always gone, I know I have to. You can see I am nothing but a child, but, dear, I am the easiest person to handle when you know how. You have had no trouble, have you? Well, you never will. I don't say there will not be tears and a brewing of a little storm, but then I know you well enough to know that I might just as well have done it in the beginning as to have made a fuss, for I know you are firm as a rock, but I know there will be storms on my side.

"Lots of love, dear.
"Fondly, Kitten."

Five thousand schoolboy soldiers, arrayed in their new khaki uniforms, were cheered by thousands along the line of parade today and at the review on the parade grounds of Boston Common.

The parade was larger than in previous years because of the addition of two new companies from the High School of Commerce. Members of the various school organizations gathered on Warren avenue, Montgomery street, West Canton street and Clarendon street today, and upon signal from Colonel George H. Benyon, military instructor in the Boston high schools, begun their march through Clarendon street to Columbus avenue, Boylston, Tremont, Bromfield, Washington, School, Beacon and thence to the parade grounds.

Mayor Peters reviewed the parade from the City Hall with Cadet-Major William Muskovitz of English High. At the State House, it was reviewed by Governor Calvin Coolidge and his aides. On the Common, the reviewing party consisted of Colonel Robert W. Naylor of English High, commander of the Third Regiment and by Frank V. Thompson, superintendent of schools of Boston, and the school committee, made up of Michael H. Sullivan, Michael H. Cochrane, Richard J. Lane, Henry Abrahams and Miss F. G. Curtis. Major Charles A. Randall of the staff of General Bullard, was present, too. He served eleven months overseas.

One of the features of the parade, other than the new uniforms, was the presence of a number of YD boys. These are high school boys who have seen service overseas and are now discharged. Among them were Sergeant Gilbert Armstrong and Sergeant Weisberg. Both had two service stripes.

The parade was divided into eight regiments, with ten bands. Commanders of the eight regiments in order of parade were:

Colonel Alfred Delaney, Fifth Regiment from Brighton; Colonel William M. Thornton, Sixth Regiment from South Boston; Colonel Robert S. Webster, First Regiment; Colonel Henry Albert McCurdy, Second Regiment of Latin; Colonel Robert H. Naylor, Third Regiment of English High; Colonel William Smith, Fourth Regiment of Dorchester. Colonel John M. Hayes led the Seventh Regiment, and Colonel Eugene Hudson, the Eighth. Both of the High School of Commerce.

The drum corps was under the supervision of Lieutenant W. Thomas. Others assisting in the parade were Lieutenant Joseph McK. Driscoll of Company C, 104th Regiment, and Captain George H. Panny of Headquarters Company of the 104th. Both are instructors and have seen service overseas.

The majors and colonels were present at a luncheon in the Brunswick given them by Mayor Peters.

REFUSES TO FIX PRICE OF FISH IN BOSTON

National War Labor Board Awards Increase to Handlers' Union and Marine Engineers

By International News Service.

Washington, May 29.—The National War Labor Board today announced its awards in cases involving four of the five unions in the New England fishing industry and three of the largest producing companies—the Bay State Fishing Company of Boston, the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company of Gloucester and the East Coast Fisheries Company of New York.

In the case involving the Fishermen's Union, generally regarded as the most important, the board made no award, as the union through its counsel declined to press the case to an issue after the board had ruled that it would not go into the question of alleged price of fish, which was the crux of the demands of the fishermen.

In the case of the Fish Handlers' Union, employes receiving less than $25 a week are granted a 15 per cent. increase, and those receiving more than $25 a week a 10 per cent. increase. Overtime is to be paid at 75 cents an hour and piecework increased 10 per cent. Hours and working conditions remain unchanged.

In the case of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, chief engineers are granted $110 a month and $12 per $1,000 on the selling price of the gross stock of the vessel. Assistant engineers are to get $85 per month and $7 on the selling price of the stock.

The marine firemen, water tenders and oilers, union members, are to receive $40 per month, 60 cents per hour overtime and $5 on the gross sale, hours and working conditions remaining unchanged.

In the case of the Master, Mates and Pilots' Association, captains were awarded $125 a month and 3 per cent. commission on the selling price of the gross stock; mates to receive $110 and 2 per cent. commission.

All of the awards are effective May 1, to continue until the proclamation of peace. The board recommends that the boat owners meet with representatives of the employes with a view to the establishment of machinery for prevention and adjustment of future differences; the promotion of amicable relations between the two and the negotiation of wage agreements for the industry as a whole.

YOUTHFUL SHOOTERS OF CRAPS FINED IN QUINCY

Four youths employed in the Fore River yards were fined $25 each by Judge Avery in the Quincy District Court today on a charge of "shooting crap" in the Quincy depot. The amount of money at stake was not sufficient to cover one of the fines. The four, who paid their fines, were Leo McMennamin of Exchange street, Alfred Short of West Park street and Robert Ellsmore of Howard street, all of Brockton; and Robert Mingle of Tremont street, Boston.

HE LOOKED LIKE THE OLD PIRATE HIMSELF.

Francis Morgan, descendant of the old buccaneer Morgan, bears a striking resemblance to the old pirate. It is this resemblance and also his striking image to another relative that leads the adventurous New Yorker through a series of thrilling adventures when he goes to Central America to hunt the buried treasure of his ancestor. In "Hearts of Three," Jack London's last novel, beginning next Monday in the Boston American. YOU can go through the experiences by proxy.

Come On, Let's Hear About Your Expert Boy Fishermen!

Have you a little fisher in your home?

A Concord kiddie of three years hooked a nine-inch hornpout.

Can your boy or girl beat that, for little age and big fish?

If you have a good fish story about your kiddie write it to the Fishing Editor, Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston. On one side of the paper please, not too long, but all the facts.

Eligible for the the Ancient and Honorable Order of Fishermen:

Berkeley Hayden Ingham of Concord Junction.

Aged three years and seven months.

Berkeley hooked a nine-pound hornpout, which would seem to qualify him as one of the youngest, if not the very youngest, amateur fishermen in this grand old fishing State.

Berkeley's mamma, Mrs. John T. Ingham, landed the fish for him. Mamma is credited with an assist, as baseball writers term it.

Berkeley's papa has taken the boy fishing at times. With a bent pin for a hook Berkeley imitated papa.

But a bent pin is no kind of a hook for a boy three years old, going on four. Berkeley demanded a really, truly hook. One was given him.

Next to bait the thing. Berkeley watched papa do it. Finally, after much business with bait and chubby fingers and hook, Berkeley caught the trick.

Now to catch a fish. Berkeley went down to the pond near his home, baited his hok and waited. In a few minutes he ran back to mamma, his eyes popping out. He shrieked:

"Mamma, a fish has taken my pole."

Mamma ran to the edge of the pond. The pole, floating on the water, was traveling along. Mamma pursued it in a boat, overtook it and pulled up a nine-inch hornpout.

CROSS RECOMMENDED FOR ROXBURY OFFICER

Lieutenant John Letzing, a Roxbury boy, now in a hospital in New York, has been recommended for the Distinguished Service Cross. Lieutenant Letzing's "extraordinary courage" in action is praised by Captain R. M. L. Tavenner, 16th Infantry, in a letter written from Herschbach, Germany. It reads, in part: "Your extraordinary courage and the praiseworthy example which you set before the men of your platoon while under intense fire was an inspiration to all."

"YOU MIGHT KISS ME GOODBYE," SHE FALTERED.

"She advanced impulsively with outstretched arms . . . Francis hesitated a puzzled moment, then gathered her in, to receive an astounding, passionate kiss on his lips ere she dropped her head on his shoulder in a breakdown of tears." From "Hearts of Three," Jack London's latest novel, published for the first time in any form, beginning next Monday, in the Boston American.

CAMBRIDGE "Y" WORKER CITED FOR HIS ZEAL

Harry Livingston Burdick, of No. 34 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, after nine months' service in managing the Y. M. C. A. Foyer du Soldat at Sens, has returned home. Besides receiving the Croix du Guerre, he was given a citation by the commander of the district in which his hut was located commending him for his modesty, zeal and the personal attentions with which he surrounded the soldiers.

'OLD PROB' IS BLAMED FOR 70C. ICE

Suburban Companies Forced by Harvest Failure to Go Far North for Supply

Now what's the reason?

The reason why ice, by the little 100 pounds, delivered into your ice chest, costs 50 cents in Boston, and 70 cents in Milton, to name just one suburb?

Who's to blame?

"The only man to blame is the weather man," says G. H. Voter, vice-president of the Massachusetts Ice Dealers' Association. "And, strangely as it may see, outlying ice dealers in the suburbs, charging 70 cents a hundred for their ice, are still making less profit than Boston proper ice companies, charging only 50 cents a hundred.

TRIPLE FREIGHT BILL.

"The reason for this is an item not usually considered by the public, that an ice wagon, driver and helper, in Boston proper, in congested districts, will actually deliver nearly twice as much ice as the driver in suburbs where the trade is scattered."

The specific case of ice in Milton, at 70 cents a hundred, was considered. The rise is due according to Voter, to the fact that last Winter no ice was harvested in Milton. In every previous year Milton, locally, grew Milton's ice. Therefore the ice dealer in that town this year has to pay three freights, for he gets his ice north of Boston. These are freight to Boston, freight across the city, and freight to Milton. Added to these three freights is the cost of still keeping up the local ice equipment in Milton. For, in another year, with ice conditions normal, the plant will be needed to store the ice once more. As Voter explained:

NO LOCAL HARVEST.

"The Milton Ice Company usually harvested its supply in Milton and saved freights. This year, on account of the open Winter, they are obliged to go into the market in New Hampshire and pay prevailing prices, which are at present from $5 to $6, in New Hampshire, per ton. They must stand shrinkage in transit amounting to between $1.50 and $2 a ton. This would make a net cost of ice delivered at depot approximately $8.60 to $9 a ton. Fifty-cent ice to family trade nets the ice companies, after deducting 10 per cent. for shrinkage, about $9 per ton, from which it can be seen that the Milton Ice Company's ice costs them this year very nearly as much, loaded on their wagons, as Boston proper ice companies are able to sell for. To these expenses are not included delivery expense and maintenance of plant.

ALL IN THE SAME BOAT.

"From this it is evident that the Milton Ice Company, at 70 cents per hundred, is actually making less than Boston proper ice companies are making at 50 cents per hundred. This same situation is true of practically all ice companies south of Boston."

Last Winter's ice famine was the first of its kind in thirty-nine years. Next year, with a normal ice crop, prices will go back to 50 cents per hundred in the suburbs, though they will probably never go far below that while present economic conditions continue.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS GET "INJURED" BUTTONS

Forty wounded ex-soldiers of Greater Boston applied today at army recruiting headquarters, No. 12A Tremont row, for the silver buttons being issued by the government to men injured in action. The majority were gas cases, shell shock coming next. Three of the applicants had been bayoneted. Of the forty, thirty-two were formerly of the Yankee Division.

"BOOZELESS SALOON" NAME STILL SOUGHT

The "boozeless saloon" still is unnamed. New England area headquarters of the joint centenary committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church has received a renewed appeal from the management of the City Life Exhibit at the Methodist centenary celebration, which will take place at Columbus, O., June 20 to July 13, to aid in finding an appropriate name for the "boozeless saloon," which will be one of the city life exhibits at the great religious pageant.

COME TO CENTRAL AMERICA.

Live days of thrilling adventure, hours of love, fight battles, man to man—this is what Francis Morgan does in Jack London's last novel, "Hearts of Three," beginning next Monday, June 2, in the Boston American. Of all the stories London wrote before his death—and there were many wonderful tales—none has been more typical of his virile style and none more fascinating than "Hearts of Three." Start with the first chapter next Monday.

Give Strikers $500

Worcester, May 29.—The 800 striking Worcester moulders today received a check for $500 from the Boston union. Other labor organizations throughout the State have also voted to aid the strikers.

LOVE SUIT PAIR HELD FOR TRIAL ON JUNE 12

Charged Mrs. Gladding Used Husband's Money for Silk Underwear for Another Man

Providence, May 29.—That young and pretty Mrs. Theodore L. Gladding added insult to injury by using her husband's money to buy silk socks and underwear for another man will be one of the claims made by her aged better half when his alienation of affections suit against Richard Williams, to whom she is alleged to have transferred her affections, is heard.

This was brought out today when Mrs. Gladding and Williams were arraigned on a statutory charge. They were taken from a lodging house on Carpenter street early yesterday, both in night attire.

William H. McSoley, attorney for the aggrieved husband, today told the story of Mrs. Gladding's alleged passion for Williams as it will be unfolded on the witness stand.

The unhappy romance started, according to McSoley, when Mrs. Gladding met Williams on a suburban train while on her way to her home in Bristol. "Williams sat in the same seat and raised a window for her," said the attorney, "and the chance acquaintance thus begun quickly developed into something so serious that it became common talk, and Mr. Gladding could no longer remain silent."

Mr. Gladding is sixty-two while his wife is thirty-four, as is Williams.

Williams and Mrs. Gladding pleaded not guilty to the statutory complaint today and were bound over until June 12 for trial. Bail was set at $500 in each case. Beside this sum, however, Williams must raise $10,000 bail, set in the alienation of affections suit.

SETTLEMENT REACHED IN CASWELL WILL FIGHT

A settlement was today effected in the contest over the will of Charles S. Caswell and by instructions of Judge White in the Fifth Session of the Superior Court the jury answered issues framed by the Supreme Court and was discharged. The jury found the will of Mr. Caswell was duly executed; that he was of sound mind when he signed the instrument, and that the same was not procured by fraud or undue influence of William F. Cole or Harriet A. Cobb. Mr. Caswell left an estate of about $22,000. To his brother, Fred R. Caswell of South Mendon, he gave among other things the income of a trust fund of $5,000 for life. After several private legacies, the residue of the estate, amounting to $14,000, went to William F. Cole of Worcester, a brother-in-law of Mr. Caswell. The contest was made by Mr. Caswell's brother.

KILLED IN LEAP FROM BURNING BUILDING

New London, Ct., May 29.—One man is known to be dead, and firemen are searching for other bodies, as the result of a fire here today which destroyed the Williams block at Green and Golden streets.

The dead man is believed to be Robert Tate of Pittsfield, Mass.

Another man who jumped broke both legs. A child is dying from suffocation.

The building was occupied by the families of railroad men. The victim groped his way through the smoke to a window on the fourth floor and jumped, being instantly killed.

The fire started on the street floor, which was occupied by a bowling alley and cafe.

'ANTI-ANARCHY' BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Measure Aimed at Those Inciting Acts of Violence Takes Effect at Once

Governor Coolidge today signed the so-called "anti-anarchy" bill.

As it has an emergency preamble the bill becomes effective at once.

The bill begins with the statement that:

"There is now in this Commonwealth a considerable number of persons, mainly non-resident, who are striving to promote anarchy in the community and who are inciting others to acts of violence with a view to the overthrow of all government."

It then provides a penalty of $1,000 fine or three years' imprisonment for any person who "advocates, counsels, advises or incites" assault upon a public official, the destruction of property or the overthrow of the government by force or violence.

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN WATER AT EAST BOSTON

The unidentified body of a man believed to be Lawrence P. Wilson of No. 28 Austin avenue, East Boston, was picked up by the police boat Watchman early today near the Bertelson & Petersen wharf, East Boston. Captain Ross Perry discovered the body, which was badly decomposed and clothed in a black coat and vest, gray trousers, khaki shirt and white underwear. The remains were those of a man apparently twenty-one years old and five feet six inches in height. A black leather belt with keys attached was around the body. Wilson was reported as missing from a navy yard lighter following a trip across the harbor to East Boston on April 3. It was removed to the Northern Mortuary.

FREE PHOTOGRAPH OF DISCHARGE PAPERS

Soldiers may have their discharge papers photographed free of charge, at the Archives Department (room 135) of the Secretary of State's office, according to an announcement today by Representative Thomas Niland of East Boston. Mr. Niland points out that while the War Department will not accept these photographs in lieu of the originals they will be of use to ex-service men because they can be carried in the pocket instead of the originals, thus saving wear and tear on the latter.

ROXBURY WAR VETERANS' LEGION TO ORGANIZE

A meeting of men of the Roxbury district will be held in the Municipal Building, Vine and Dudley streets, Monday evening at 8 o'clock to organize a post of the Legion of World War Veterans. The committee, through Temporary Commander Frederick T. Doyle, has asked all men of the district who were in service in the army, navy or marine corps to attend. The recruiting committee says the membership of this post should exceed 500, and it is planned to discuss the part the organization will take in the Roxbury Day celebration.

'L' MEN ARE NO SLACKERS, SAYS O'HARE

Replies to Charge by Commander Kelly of Spanish War Veterans

The charge that employes of the Boston Elevated Railway are "aliens" and "slackers" made by Commander Timothy W. Kelly of the Spanish War Veterans is today, emphatically refuted by Michael J. O'Hare.

O'Hare, who is an employe of the Elevated, served with the Fifth Massachusetts Regiment on the Mexican border and has returned from eighteen months of service in France. He was a member of Company B, 101st Infantry, U. S. Twenty-sixth Division, and was in all of the heavy fighting of the Yankee Division.

The letter of protest follows:

"Editor of the Boston American:

"I would like to protest at this time against a letter which appeared in your paper in regard to employes of the Boston Elevated Railroad being 'aliens' and 'slackers,' by Commander Timothy W. Kelly of the Spanish War Veterans. I am a veteran of the World's War and interested in unionism. At this time I would like to ask Mr. Kelly through your paper the motive for such an unjust criticism as I believe this to be.

"Would it not be fairer to us and to him also to make his charges—if true—to the government officials, who would then handle the matter to the satisfaction of everyone concerned? I believe he would then be doing his duty as a commander of a military organization instead of meddling into the affairs of a union that, I judge by his letter, he holds in little respect.

"I can claim five years rating with this company and can honestly say that when the call came for volunteers the carmen of Boston responded in a large number to all of the calls of our government and State. I would suggest that Commander Kelly's charge of 'alien' could be taken care of by the General Court of Massachusetts.

"I hope that the public will not judge us and our union by a few, as Local 589 had a large number in the service, as I have said before. We are not 'slackers' as Mr. Kelly states, but members of the family called 'organized labor.' United we stand, divided we fall.

"For the cause that is most dear to me and my brother members—unionism.

COME TO CENTRAL AMERICA.

Live days of thrilling adventure, hours of love, fight battles, man to man—this is what Francis Morgan does in Jack London's last novel, "Hearts of Three," beginning next Monday, June 2, in the Boston American. Of all the stories London wrote before his death—and there were many wonderful tales—none has been more typical of his virile style and none more fascinating than "Hearts of Three." Start with the first chapter next Monday.

SERVICE MEN INVITED TO A DAY OF SPORTS

More than a thousand service men have been invited to take part in the field day planned by the War Camp Community Service to be held on Saturday at Jamaica Pond House. Transportation by automobile will be furnished to soldiers, sailors and marines, who are asked to report at noon on Saturday at the United Service Club, No. 48 Boylston street. A large number of girls will take part in the sports. The day's program will include baseball, Chelsea Naval Hospital vs. West Roxbury Convalescent Hospital and U. S. S. Salem vs. Lockwood Basin, races, singing, luncheon and dancing. The sports will begin at 1:30 p. m. and last through the evening.

NEW WOODEN STEAMER LEAVES FOR ENGLAND

Unusual interest marked the departure of the wooden steamship Cumberland from Mystic Wharf, Charlestown, for Liverpool today, under the command of Captain C. W. Willard. For the Cumberland is the first of the Ferris type of steamers of the Shipping Board to be sent across the Atlantic. The trip will test the seaworthiness of this type of merchantmen, and on its outcome will probably depend the success of the government's plan to sell its big fleet of similarly constructed carriers.

LOST AVIATOR RESUMES TRIP TO ATLANTIC CITY

Tyringham, May 29.—Captain Mansell James, the British army aviator who landed here after having lost his way on a flight from Saugus to Atlantic City, left today. He gave himself one hour to reach Atlantic City. Francis Ford, a Boy Scout, gave his compass to the aviator, who was without one.

GENERAL SMUTS MAY BE AMBASSADOR TO U. S.

Paris, May 29.—There has been a renewal of speculation in peace conference circles as to the new British ambassador to the United States. General Smuts and Premier Borden of Canada are among those now being mentioned.

AUTO THIEVES SPLIT INTO TWO GANGS

Joy Riders Take Any Handy Car. While Professionals Choose Prizes Carefully

Automobile thieves are of two classes—the joy rider, who steals a car "just for fun," and the professional thief, whose aim is to convert the car into immediate cash.

The first chooses almost any car that is convenient and appeals to him at the moment of his desire for a ride. Sometimes the joy rider does not know how properly to drive an automobile. And this fact comes to an abrupt climax when the gasoline gives out or the machine collides with a tree.

The professional automobile thief is usually affiliated with some "gang" and rarely works alone, unless freelancing—"working on his own hook" and disposing of the stolen car to some garage setting as a "fence."

The information obtained by the American comes from an automobile insurance concern, and various other sources having direct concern in connection with automobiles.

THIEVES WORK IN PAIRS.

Thefts in the business district are believed to be "pulled off" by a pair working together. They select an owner who stops before a building. One trails him to his office to see if he is to there any length of time. If so, the opportunity to make a get-away with the car is good. If they are determined to get the car, yet find conditions are not ideal, the accomplice will call upon the business man and put over a "fake purpose" to allow the fellow in the street sufficient time to do the job. The machine then is taken to the usual "fence" and the spoils divided. The gangster type of professional thief, the most common, usually is well equipped with means of self protection in case he is connected. This is the most dangerous type. He does not depend upon his wits to make a get-away.

He rarely isolated private garages or takes a car from the street in broad daylight. They usually work in gangs, and with the aid of other machines, which are used to block pursuit.

THE ARTFUL THIEF.

The cars stolen by organized gangs are generally directed to their clearing house, which sometimes is out of the State. There they are repainted and remodeled; oftentimes bodies are changed from one car to another.

The thief with "art" is the one who can steal an automobile, even though it is locked by the owner. The gasoline lock, that shuts off the flow of gasoline to the carburetor, is a simple problem for the artful thief. All he needs is a quart bottle of gasoline with rubber hose attachment, and an accomplice. The machine is picked out and while one makes a hasty connection of the bottle of gasoline with the carburetor, the other starts the engine and off they go. On a quart of gasoline they can travel to a safe distance, perhaps to the garage or hiding place.

Ingenuity is not even balked by chains, as in one case cited. The owner of a car chained one of the wheels to a stout post and went in to transact his business with the belief that the car was safe. Along came the thief. A detachable wheel was mounted on the rear of the car. The fifth wheel was removed and put on after the chained wheel was taken off. The whole process required very little time and the thief jumped into the car and rode off, leaving the chained wheel at the post.

THIEVES CARRY KEYS.

On cheaper priced cars the manufacturers attach locks of a cheap nature and the professional thief is familiar with the fact. All he has to do is get the right key. Just before attempting to steal the car, get in, unlock and depart. He is equipped with different keys for different makes of cars. Higher priced cars have a special type of key, which presents a more difficult problem.

Carelessness on the part of automobiles owners is an encouragement to stealing a car. On many occasions one can see a machine, he says, "locked" with a bunch of keys dangling from the keyhole.

Stealing of special cars is often prompted by a small advertisement, calling for a certain make of car and offering an enticing price. The freelance thief sees a ready market. He scouts up that sort of car, get it, has the number changed and possibly finds a sale.

Some thieves confine their activities to the stealing of tires because of the ready market. In Plum Island, one car was stripped of its entire set, leaving the car on its rims. If the tire is chained to a brace, the chains are nipped with cutters.

One man offered a solution to the present state of affairs, in the form of more rigid laws and the rigid application of the same. Another saw no difference between a horse thief and an automobile thief.

POLICE BACK NEW BILL.

Police Commissioner Curtis and other police officials throughout the State are particularly interested in the bill which comes before the Senate today for a third reading, to severely punish persons connected with the theft of automobiles. The automobile trade to a man is strongly in favor of the bill, and leaders in the automobile industry here expressed the belief that the bill will pass without opposition and become a law.

"We ought to do everything possible to stop this wholesale stealing of automobiles," said George Forbes, treasurer of the Massachusetts Automobile Association, discussing the bill, "and this bill should be of great service. The automobiles of today is really paying for the good roads which so aid the rest of the public, including the merchant and the farmer, and it is only right that he should be afforded some protection. This is important legislation and should be passed without delay."

The bill, passed by the House of Representatives upon the recommendation of the committee on Roads and Bridges, came before the Senate on Tuesday. Senator Beck of Chelsea believed that the bill should be amended, so that instead of reading a one-year minimum sentence for persons convicted of stealing autos or concealing stolen autos, it should read a five-year minimum.

It is extremely probable that other amendments to the bill will be suggested. It is the feeling of the police authorities and of the automobile dealers that the law should be made as far-reaching and as powerful as possible, in order to stamp out auto stealing. It is pointed out that only the passage of this or a similar law can effect the desired result, as at present the police are without the power to convict the average auto thief after they have arrested him.

McBRIDE CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF PRINTERS

Recount Held Owing to Closeness of Vote by Boston Typographical Union

Sylvester J. McBride of the Boston American was elected president of the Boston Typographical Union.* So close was the vote that a recount was held today. McBride received 761 votes and Joseph J. Dallas, New England representative of the International Typographical Union, received 725.

The majority of only sixteen in a poll of 1,470 votes, while demonstrating the popularity of both candidates, also suggested a recount, and the suggestion was followed in the spirit of sportsmanship, rather than contention. Other offices were also closely contested.

Frederick Harwood of the Boston Post was elected vice-president and John O. Battis was re-elected to the office of secretary-treasurer, defeating James Godkin of the Herald, who opposed him. David Ramsay was elected assistant secretary. Doubt exists as to the result of contests for other offices and the results are not expected to be announced before Saturday.

TECHNIQUE RUSH STARTS LIVELY DAY AT TECH

Rough and Tumble Affair in Main Court; Junior Prom Ball at Copley-Plaza Tonight

The annual junior week celebration at Technology started off today with a bang when the Technique Rush was held in the main court. The occasion was the initial appearance of the college annual, Technique 1920. The first twenty books were autographed by President Richard C. Maclaurin, the first four and twentieth books being given away free.

There was a great rough and tumble affair, with a combination of lampblack and oil featuring the performance. It made a dark, slightly handsome night, but nevertheless a very picturesque one.

This evening will see almost four hundred couples attending the biggest social event of the year, the junior prom at the Copley-Plaza. The dance will last from 9 o'clock until 4 in the morning. According to the plans of the committee it should be a dazzling affair from the start to finish, with many features. Supper will be served at midnight.

The matrons are Mrs. Richard C. Maclaurin, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, Mrs. Albert Farwell Bemis and Mrs. Henry Pearson. The Juniors in charge of the affair are John C. Nash, chairman, Cherryfield, Me.; Warren L. Coffrin, Alston; Kenneth F. Ahrn, Brookline; Kenneth Roman, Brookline; Richard H. Gee, Fall River; and Murray M. Whitaker, Hamilton, O.

Tomorrow, the first production of Tech Show 1919, "A Doubtful Medium," will be given at Northampton. The Boston performances will be given Saturday afternoon and evening in the Hollis Street Theatre. The show will also be played out in Worcester, Monday evening. The authors of the production are Jesse Stam '19, New York, and John G. Lee '20. The music and lyrics have been written entirely by the students. The orchestra is also made up of Technology undergraduates.

RECEIPTS OF LADIES' DOG SHOW FOR WAR HEROES

The Ladies' Dog Club will devote the receipts of their annual show this year to crippled service men. The event, which is attracting considerable attention, will be held at Mrs. Mary Anderson's estate. Nine judges have been chosen and many big prizes are offered.

BIG CUT IN NAVY PROGRAM IS UNDER WAY

House Committee May Reduce Man Power to 131,000 and Scrap Old Cruisers

By International News Service.

Washington, May 29.—Trimming of the navy program is under way in the House Naval Affairs Committee today. While the committee is still hearing officers of the Navy Department, there was every indication that the members were inclined to clip the program which had been outlined by secretary of the Navy Daniels and his staff.

Secretary Daniels has asked for a navy with a man-power of 272,121, but admitted that he could get along with 250,000. Committeemen differ with the secretary materially concerning the strength of the navy, and Representative Butler of Pennsylvania, chairman, was known to incline towards a policy of maintaining the navy's strength at 131,000.

As outlined before the committee, the navy program is for two fleets with a total of 16 first-class battleships, 12 second-class battleships, 162 destroyers, 20 Eagleboats and auxiliary craft.

Members of the committee were opposed to the navy's plan for keeping in commission a number of old cruisers.

"I can't see the wisdom of keeping these old tubs in service and spending huge sums for their maintenance," Chairman Butler said today. He stated that in his opinion the functions of these vessels might be carried out by vessels of another type and of newer construction. The Eagleboat and its use were in favor with members of the committee. This type of boat, naval officers who have testified before the committee admit, takes the place in every way of a gunboat, carries a smaller crew and is really more efficient.

Despite the recent success of the navy's aviation forces in making the first trans-Atlantic flight, the House committee today was disposed to cut down the appropriation for aeronautics in the naval appropriation bill.

Secretary Daniels has asked for $46,000,000, but this sum probably will be cut in half, committee members said. Estimates for the naval appropriation bill are approximately $720,000,000, which is the sum asked in the bill presented during the last Congress, but this sum will be greatly reduced before the bill goes to the House. It was indicated by leaders today.

Paris, May 29.—For the purpose of attending the initial meeting of the League of Nations, King Albert of Belgium is expected to visit Washington next October.

REMOVED TO CAPITAL ON FUGITIVE CHARGE

Fred Spencer of Shelburne Falls, a fugitive from justice from the District of Columbia, has been ordered removed by Judge James M. Morton, Jr., of the United States District Court, to that jurisdiction, where he is under indictment on the charge of non-support of his wife.

Spencer, who is about thirty years of age, was arrested a few days ago at Shelburne Falls by Deputy United States Marshal Leyden of Springfield. The defendant was taken to Washington today by one of United States Marshal Mitchell's deputies.

FATHER OF LEXINGTON BOY GETS HIS WAR MEDAL

Lexington, May 29.—From the French government, Willard C. Hill of No. 624 Massachusetts avenue, this town, has received the military medal the highest military decoration that can be given any enlisted man in recognition of the valiant services of his son, Stanley Hill, who gave his life on the battlefields of France. Just prior to his death Young Hill was decorated with a Croix de Geurre and palm. He was an ambulance driver.

BLISS NATIVE HERB TABLETS

Restore a Healthy Condition

Why permit your liver and kidneys to remind you constantly of their unhealthy condition, when Bliss Native Herb Tablets taken at regular intervals will free you from pain, and keep your system in sound physical health. Don't neglect them, for to do so will lead to perhaps very serious consequences. Take Bliss Native Herb Tablets at the first sign of trouble, and you will be agreeably surprised at the results. They are a combination of herbs, as old a standard herb remedy for all ills due to a torpid liver, as the average man's life appears. The liver and kidneys function properly, the bowels become free and healthy, the appetite improves, and the general system becomes invigorated.

Mrs. Francis Mercier Brunswick, Ga., writes: "My liver and kidneys were very bad, but thanks to Bliss Native Herb Tablets, I have now been free of my old troubles for a time. I shall continue to keep them on hand, as I find they are all you claim for them."

Bliss Native Herb Tablets are put up only in box form, containing the average dose for one month. Price $1.00, obtainable at druggists. Look for the trade-mark and signature, and guarantee on every box.

Sold by local druggists and local agents on new where.

Cadum Ointment for Skin Troubles

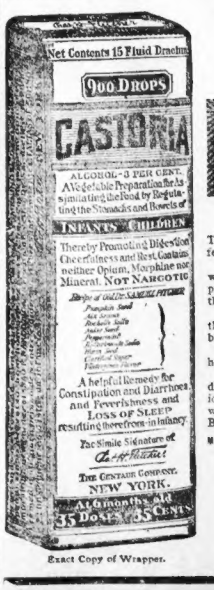
Cadum Ointment has proved a blessing to thousands who have suffered for years from irritating and stubborn skin troubles. Much suffering from skin troubles may be avoided by the use of this wonderful remedy. Cadum Ointment is good for eczema, pimples, blotches, itch, scaly skin, eruptions, chafings, piles, rash, scabs, ringworm, cuts, sores, burns, etc. Cadum Ointment is a French preparation, made in America from the original formula.

Care and Responsibility.

THE responsibility attached to the preparing of a remedy for infants and children is undoubtedly greater than that imposed upon the manufacturer of remedies for adults whose system is sufficiently strong to counteract, for a time at least, any injurious drug. It is well to observe that Castoria is prepared today, as it has been for the past 40 years, under the personal supervision of Mr. Chas. H. Fletcher.

What have makers of imitations and substitutes at stake? What are their responsibilities? To whom are they answerable? They spring up today, scatter their nefarious wares broadcast, and disappear tomorrow.

Could each mother see the painstaking care with which the prescription for Fletcher's Castoria is prepared: could they read the innumerable testimonials from grateful mothers, they would never listen to the subtle pleadings and false arguments of those who would offer an imitation of, or substitute for, the tried and true Fletcher's Castoria.



Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, and the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrups was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

LYNN HERO HOME WITH 22,072 TROOPS

Lieut. Stone Led Army Across Captured Aire Bridge in Argonne Fighting

By International News Service.

New York, May 29.—The Cape May, first of ten transports due to arrive here today with 22,072 returning American soldiers, docked this morning with 3,936 troops. She brought the 326th Infantry Field and Staff, headquarters detachment, First Battalion Headquarters and Medical Detachment and Companies A, B, C, E, G, I and K Machine Gun Company.

The troops aboard the Cape May were commanded by Colonel J. K. Miller of Indianapolis. The unit distinguished itself by taking a broken bridge across the River Aire, during the Argonne fighting.

Lieutenant Ellsworth A. Stone of Lynn, Mass., who led the way across the captured bridge, was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross. He was wounded twice during this action.

The Cape May was closely followed by the Kroonland, with 2,871 men; the Pastores, with 2,130 men, and the Italia, with 1,067.

The principal units on the Kroonland were the 304th Engineers and auxiliary detachments, three companies of the 20th Engineers and the 316th Infantry Headquarters. The Pastores brought the 313th Ammunition Train, the 337th and 339th Machine Gun Battalions and smaller detachments.

Among the units on the Italia was the 319th Field Signal Battalion.

SCHOOL HEAD FINED $10 ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Hopkinton, May 29.—Judge Riley has made public sentences in the assault cases tried here before Judge Morris of Hudson on May 3, arising out of an effort of School Superintendent W. B. Lyman and Committeeman Condon to enter a school committee meeting after the board had voted not to allow Lyman to attend. Judge Morris found Superintendent Lyman guilty of assault on T. J. Elliott and Judge Riley imposed a $10 fine. An appeal was taken and the cases will be heard later in the Middlesex Superior Court.

CAMP DEVENS ENLISTS NEARLY 1,000 RECRUITS

Camp Devens, Ayer, May 29.—Camp Devens will have registered 1,000 enlistments within the next ten days, if recruiting continues at the present lively rate, according to Captain Macdonald, recruiting officer.

The total at this time is 310 for Camp Devens. The latest War Department figures show an enrolment of 40,000 for the entire country.

When You Buy Twin Sodas, Who Gets the Extra Cent?

When you buy two five-cent sodas and the cashier holds you up for two cents tax, and the government collects only one cent on every ten, who gets the extra cent.

This query was raised today by a soda patron who was thus victimized. Instead of two five-cent checks, the cashier handed him one ten-cent check.

"Had I been given two checks marked five cents the government would have got two cents," he points out. "Now if I go back and ask for a ten-cent check, pay 11 cents and get two five-cent drinks, am I beating the government or beating a profiteer who is beating the government?"

CHICAGO $18,000 SCHOOL HEAD OUSTED

Chicago, May 29.—Charles E. Chadsey, who, as this city's $18,000 school superintendent, was the highest paid in the country, has been replaced through the action of a newly appointed school board, by Peter A. Mortenson.

A bitter political fight is behind the change. In his (two-months' service as school head Mr. Chadsey has not received any of his salary.

In the political fight one faction has been led by Jacob M. Loeb, president of the outgoing school board, while Mayor Thompson headed the other faction. Mr. Loeb was a Thompson apointee, but split with him. Mr. Chadsey was brought over from Detroit as superintendent by the Loeb board. The board which elected Mr. Mortenson was appointed yesterday.

Mr. Loeb formally notified the new board that he considered all their actions illegal. He is expected to carry the dispute into the courts.

The New England Vivisection Society receives $10,000; the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children $5,000 and the Animal Rescue League $2,000 from the will of Miss Evangeline L. Clemenson of Milton, allowed by the Norfolk County Probate Court. Upon the death of Charlotte W. Ham, Leslie O. Stenger and Ama. B. Clesen, who are to receive yearly incomes while they live, the rest and residue of the estate is to be given to the Home for Aged Couples, American Unitarian Association and the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, Tuskegee, Ala. The estate left by the testatrix comprises real and personal property aggregating $150,000.

FRANCE JOINS U. S. IN HONOR TO HEROES

Wilson and Pershing Will Deliver Addresses at Memorial Meetings Tomorrow

By JOHN T. PARKERSON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, May 29.—France will join hands with America tomorrow (Memorial Day) in honoring the memory of America's heroic dead. President Wilson is scheduled to deliver an address at Suresnes, a suburb of Paris, while General Pershing will make a speech at Romagne, near Verdun, where several thousand American soldiers are buried.

Scattered over the broad territory which formed the old battle line thousands of small American flags and a profusion of flowers are being strewn to mark the last resting places of Americans who readily gave up their lives to make the world a better and safer place to live in.

There are more American graves in France this year than there were last year, but the reward of this sacrifice has come in the defeat of militarism. For weeks past representative Americans, men and women, have given time and money to see that each of the 70,000 American heroes buried in France shall not be forgotten. The slogan is, "Every grave of every American soldier covered with flowers and marked with a small American flag."

In addition to the services in the many cemeteries, services will also be held in many of the churches in Paris and other French cities.

Big Wind of 1917 Has Aftermath in Court

The wind blew on November 2, 1917, and caused a collision between a house and a tree on Glendale street in that section of Revere known as Oak Island. As a result, Miss Anna Keefe is seeking to recover damages from E. Delorme.

According to testimony in the seventh session of Superior Court, before Judge Wait and a jury, the foundations of the Delormo house were alleged to be rotten, and the force of the gale prevailing caused the house to fall against a tree which likewise fell and found a resting place on the roof of the Keefe house.

The sill of the latter was crushed, the rail of the piazza torn off as was also one side of the steps, and the plastering of the house was badly cracked. Damages in the sum of $1,500 are claimed by the plaintiff.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will create an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

Tightens Her Skin— Loses Her Wrinkles

"I want to tell you how easily I got rid of my wrinkles," writes Lucile Marsh. "While in London a friend, much envied because of her youthful looks, gave me a formula for a home-made preparation which has the effect of instantly tightening the skin, thus smoothing out wrinkles and furrows.

"The principal ingredient is powdered saxolite, which can be had at drug stores. An ounce of saxolite is dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. After bathing my face in this but once the transformation was so marvelous I looked years younger. Even the deep crow's feet were affected, and the annoying crease about my neck. It seems difficult to believe anything could produce such results. Several to whom I recommended the recipe have been similarly helped; one an elderly lady whose cheeks had become quite baggy."—Social Mirror.—Advertisement.

CHINESE FILM HAS TRAGIC STORY

"Broken Blossoms," However, Masterly Exhibition of Griffith Stagecraft

By FRED J. McISAAC, Dramatic Editor.

David Wark Griffith, who sticks out among makers of motion pictures as Wilson does at the Peace Conference, introduced Boston to a specimen of his genius of a very different character from those gigantic battle films "The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World," last evening at the Colonial.

It is called "Broken Blossoms" and is adapted from one of those vivid little tragedies of London's Chinatown entitled "Limehouse Nights," by Thomas Burke.

As usual with Griffith productions the limitations of the producers were not confined to the stage. Every electric light bulb in the theatre and lobby was removed and a pink or purple one replaced it. The effect was a weird and bewildering light, not unlike the effect of myriads of pink Chinese lanterns. Burning punk and a huge gold Buddha greeting at the incoming audience and located at the right of the ticket takers, increased the effect. The magic carpet transportation to the East.

MUSIC BY CHINESE BAND.

Curious strains from a Balalaika orchestra, concealed behind the boxes at the right of the stage, added to the contrasted with fantastic harmonies from a Chinese band hidden somewhere, and to these melded that blare of a big orchestra playing atmospheric music composed by Louis F. Gottschalk.

When the curtain ascended the stage was in total darkness, but ingeniously projected lights illuminated the interior of a Chinese temple, where a white girl bay and a lier, and a Chinaman played a characteristic melody on a Chinese flute.

Figuring the audience to be in a proper frame of mind the scenes were now displayed and the picture began.

SWIFTLY MOVING TRAGEDY.

"Broken Blossoms," be it said, is a swiftly moving and grim little tragedy, upon the daring theme of the love of a Chinaman for a white girl. Being perfectly aware that there is a deep prejudice in this country against gentlemen with yellow skin becoming intimate with Caucasian females, Griffith prepares us for somersaulting our sympathies by showing us our Chinese hero receiving his father's blessings in a remote Buddhist temple and setting forth for foreign lands with a noble purpose and a high mind.

Then he contrasts his slum of Limehouse, where a brutal father, "Battling" Burroughs, keeps his muscles in condition by beating and abusing his poor, little, motherless daughter.

After a terrible beating, given in Griffith fashion in full view of the audience, the girl is found by our Chinese hero, who, like the good Samaritan, takes her into his house, cares for her wounds and treats her kindly.

"Battling Burroughs" is a very fine fighter and we see him knock out the Limehouse Tiger after a very thrilling couple of rounds. A kind friend has informed him that his daughter has found sanctuary in the house of a Chinaman, so the Battler visits the place and smashes it very thoroughly, in the absence of the proprietor.

BEATS CHILD TO DEATH.

Then he drags his unfortunate child back to the hovel he calls home and beats her to death. This occupies about five minutes, during which Lillian Gish is enabled to display every emotion of horror, pain, agony and grief-stricken.

This passion for gore is growing on Griffith, probably due to his taste for warfare. There is no question but that Miss Gish does these things marvelously well, but seeing a young and blooming girl beaten to death isn't entertaining and, by heck, it isn't artistic.

Our friend from China arrives too late to save her, but not too late to pour Burroughs full of lead, after which he commits suicide.

The picture is pure tragedy of a particularly horrible character. It is unrelieved by a single moment of lightness and a touch of the fleeting comedy for which Griffith is famous. Nevertheless, it is exceedingly entertaining, developed in a most masterly fashion, and as a work of art is marred only by the too harrowing murder.

WORK OF MISS GISH HER BEST.

There are only six characters, no spectacular scenes of the type for which Griffith is famous. Therefore its grip is a triumph of a sort, and another feather in the cap of the master.

The work of Miss Gish in this picture is by far her best, while Richard Barthelmess, as the Chinaman, was very distinguished. Donald Crisp, as the brutal father, was a most effective "abyssmal brute," as Griffith calls him. The music was dramatic rather than tuneful and served atmospherically very well.

After the play Griffith was called before the curtain and made a short speech of thanks.

Petition to the Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy to send Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Home with Six Months' Pay

Sign this petition, get your friends to sign it, and forward it to the Boston American, 80 Summer st., Boston, Mass.

To the Honorable Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War:
To the Honorable Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy:

The undersigned respectfully urge you to return to their homes as soon as possible the soldiers, sailors and marines who have accomplished so brilliantly every object America had in the war.

We urge, also, that you obtain the necessary authority to pay these men their military wages for six months, or for some sufficient period after their discharge from the army until they can obtain useful and remunerative employment.

We urge this as an act of simple justice by a great nation to its heroes.

American citizens who served with the Canadian forces and were discharged as physically disabled and who later returned to their homes in the United States are to receive hospital treatment under the direction of the Medical Division of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, and the United States will be reimbursed therefor by the Canadian government. A reciprocal arrangement with the Canadian government has been effected whereby Canadians who served with our forces and received discharge will receive treatment from the Canadian government.

The arrangement was made with the Secretary of the Treasury and through the British Embassy and has precedent in an act of Congress passed in 1875. Under that act the Secretary of the Treasury was given authority to provide all seamen, citizens of foreign countries, in need of hospital treatment, such treatment in United States Marine Hospitals as they receive reimbursement for such treatment from the government of which the patient is a citizen.

GRAND ARMY MEN TO GET OLD JOBS BACK

Washington, May 28.—Former Grand Army men whose jobs were given to Confederate veterans when the Democrats obtained control of the Senate, in 1912, are to be restored, Senator New of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Patronage Committee, announces.

Thousands of men and women are impairing their constitutions, laying themselves open to illness and literally losing their grip on health simply because their blood is thinning out and possibly starving for want of iron. Iron deficiency paralyses healthy, energetic action, pulls down the whole organism and weakens the entire system. A pale face, a nervous irritable disposition, a lack of strength and endurance and the inability to cope with the strong vigorous folks in the race of life—these are the sort of warning signals that Nature gives when the blood is getting thin, pale, watery and literally starving for want of iron. If you are not sure of your condition, go to your doctor and have him take your blood count and see where you stand or else make the following test yourself: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. By enriching the blood and creating new red blood cells, Nuxated Iron strengthens the nerves, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to instill renewed energy and power into the whole system.

Unlike the older inorganic iron products Nuxated Iron is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Ferrous Chemical Co., Inc., Atlantic City, N. J.

ACTOR REFUSES TO BECOME A SPRING POET

Percival Knight Has Written Some Songs but Now Says, "No More"

By FRED J. McISAAC, Dramatic Editor.

I don't suppose anybody thinks of Percival Knight without remembering that exceedingly pessimistic song he sings in "The Arcadians" which wound up, "Cheer up, you'll soon be dead," or words to that effect.

"The Arcadians" introduced Knight to the American stage, and he has walked our boards prettily steadily since.

"Charles Frohman brought me to America to play the jockey in 'The Arcadians,'" said Knight, while he changed from the uniform of an American officer which he wears in the first act of "Among the Girls" to the evening clothes which adorn him in the second. "It was eight years ago that the sweet little musical comedy was tried on Broadway, and to my surprise Broadway liked it.

"Frohman knew all the time. When I told him in London that I feared the Americans would not like the first act, which was all about fairies, and in which we were running around among the trees in gostskins, he just smiled and said, 'Oh yes, they will.'

"And they did."

Roi Cooper Megrue, author of the farce "Seven Chances," from which "Among the Girls" was constructed, who was spending the week in Boston putting the finishing touches upon the rebuilt affair, bustled into the dressing room at this moment.

Megrue is a large, cheerful person, breezy and offhand in his manner.

"Perce, I have a great idea for a song. When all those girls turn you down in the second act you come forward and sing a song entitled 'What's the Matter with Me.'"

"Fine," said Knight. "Where's the song?"

"It isn't written yet."

"Who's going to write it?"

"You are," replied Megrue. "Can we have it tomorrow?"

"Ow," exclaimed Knight, clapping his hands to his head. "Just because I wrote a few songs for 'Getting Together' they think I am a Spring poet. If I write a song by tomorrow on that subject I know what will be the matter with me."

"What?"

"I'll be crazy."

Fortunately Aren Selwyn saved his reason by sending over a song to be inserted in the needed spot, entitled "The Italians, the Greeks and the Finns" or something like that. And Knight is now puking a hit with it.

TAGORE POEMS PRESENTED BY MISS DU PONT

Impressive Numbers Given by Artist at the Copley Theatre

By FRED J. McISAAC.

Catherine du Pont, whose interpretation of Japanese religious dances at the Copley Theatre a fortnight ago was most gratifying to those Bostonians who are up in that sort of thing, or say they are, and pleased many others who enjoyed them as novel and interesting entertainment, supplied a Tagore program yesterday afternoon at the Copley, before an audience of good size.

Miss du Pont recited four poems from Tagore, "Fruit Gathering," "The Crescent Moon," "Gitanjali" and "The Gardener."

I have been rather a Philistine on the subject of Tagore ever since I heard the funny little man with his soprano voice deliver a lecture here a few seasons ago. Nevertheless I was greatly impressed by the beauty and philosophy of his verses as revived by Miss du Pont.

Her voice is rich and mellow, musical and clear. Her diction is very remarkable and her inflection rare in a person who uses the English language. Miss du Pont sat cross-legged in Hindoo costume at one side of the stage reading the verses, while Grace Christie interpreted the poems in pantomimic dance.

Miss Christie is handicapped by lack of physical attractions, but she is an excellent pantomimist, and some of the things she did very well. It was utterly impossible to mime many of the ideas she endeavored to express, but she was always picturesque even when unintelligible.

OPPOSE REPEAL OF DAYLIGHT SAVING

Bay State House Members Practically Unanimous in Protest to Congress

An order protesting against the proposed repeal by Congress of the daylight saving law was adopted by the House today.

Although statements had been made that the so-called "agricultural interests" had urged Congress to repeal the law and although the "farming element" is largely represented in the Massachusetts House, the protest against repeal was adopted by a practically unanimous vote.

The protest adopted by the House states that the daylight saving law "has contributed to the health and efficiency of the people."

Protest of Business Interests of Boston is Voiced by John Shepard, Jr.

Leaders in Boston's commercial and business life are a unit in opposing the repeal of the so-called Daylight Saving Law. Repeal is proposed in Congress as a rider to the Agricultural Appropriation bill.

From expressions of sentiment gathered today from the heads of many of Boston's most representative business houses, it appears that opposition to the present daylight saving law is extremely rare among business men.

The larger business houses have been engaged in an active campaign to influence Congress against the repeal, and scores of telegrams to that end have been sent to Washington within the past few days. It is urged that everyone who believes in retaining the benefits of the existing law communicate immediately with their representatives in Washington requesting that no change be made.

John Shepard, Jr., president of the Shepard Norwell Stores, who was a pioneer in the advocacy of daylight-saving in this country as far back as 1913, is a foremost champion of the present law and is urging all of his friends and acquaintances to wire their representatives in Congress to work against the repeal.

Mr. Shepard said today:

"The widespread benefits accruing from the daylight-saving law more than outweigh whatever disadvantages may be urged against it. The operation of the present law has proven a boon to most city dwellers and indoor workers.

"I am heart and soul in favor of keeping the daylight-saving program as an annual occurrence of inestimable benefit. All of our employes, including the executive staff, are persuaded that the present measure makes for added health, happiness and efficiency throughout and ought to be retained on the statute books of the nation.

"I recall that the publisher of the Boston American and myself were the first to advocate daylight-saving in New England. This was in 1913 or 1914, before the war. We had the proposition all worked out, when a change of plans upset our calculations and it was left to others to effect its adoption. Under our plan the clocks were to be set ahead two hours, instead of one, as at present. Even now, I am of the opinion that we might save an additional hour by still further advancing the hands of the clock."

House Defers Action on Daylight Saving Repeal Bill; Gets Labor Protest

By International News Service.

Washington, May 29.—Because of the vigorous protests of Attorney-General Newton of New York and of the American Federation of Labor, action today by the House for repeal of the daylight saving law was deferred.

The House Rules Committee, which was to have made legal the attaching of the repealing legislation as a rider to the agriculture appropriation bill, which is now before the House, adjourned without action following receipt of a letter from Attorney-General Newton pointing out the legal confusion the repeal would cause. Henry Sterling, legislative agent of the A. F. of L., asked for time to ascertain the effect of the repeal upon labor.

SEND THIS TO YOUR MEMBER OF CONGRESS

PETITION TO THE NEW ENGLAND SENATORS AND CONGRESSMEN TO RETAIN THE DAYLIGHT SAVING LAW.
Sign this petition. Have your friends sign it.

To the New England Senators and Congressmen in the Congress of the United States:

Whereas, A rider calling for the repeal of the present Daylight Saving law has been attached to the Agricultural bill now in Congress;

Whereas, Daylight Saving having been tried last Summer was found so successful and beneficial that it was welcomed again this Summer;

Whereas, Daylight Saving is heartily approved by manufacturers, merchants, professional persons, clerks, artisans, school and college authorities and the great body of the public, with the exception of certain agriculturists;

Whereas, The increased use of daylight hours is a preventive of accidents in mechanical lines, a tremendous saving of artificial illumination, a benefit to the eyes and an extension of the hours of outdoor recreation;

The undersigned respectfully urge you to exercise your utmost influence and your vote to prevent the passage of this rider to the Agricultural bill.

We urge this to insure the continuation of an economic benefit to the great majority of men, women and children of this country.

RETURNED SOLDIERS VOTE TO IGNORE PARADE

Webster, May 29.—Grand Army men and many soldiers of the 26th Division were disturbed today over the reported action of certain returned soldiers in voting not to take part in the Memorial Day parade. The Women's Relief Corps had ordered box lunches for 600, supposing that all returned soldiers from this locality would join the Civil War veterans. Sergeant Joseph Galinski, Company C, 101st Infantry, and Sergeant Henry Brandes, Jr., Battery B, 102d Field Artillery, were active today in rounding up soldiers who would march. Brandes' father is a former commander of Nathaniel Lyon Post, G. A. R.

NEW SUBMARINE BASE OPEN AT BLOCK ISLAND

Newport, R. I., May 29.—The new harbor at Block Island was formally opened as a Summer base for submarines when the submarine tender Fulton steamed into Salt pond. Accompanying her were the submarines N-1 and H-1, which will begin torpedo practice at once. The Fulton is in command of Captain J. E. Maher and carries a crew of 150 men. More submarines are expected daily.

FREE NACE ON CHARGE OF DESERTION

Camp Devens, Ayer, May 29.—Some time today it is expected that Paul L. Nace, hero of the most remarkable series of adventures of the war, will be formally notified of his acquittal of the charge of desertion. While the court-martial officers could not divulge the verdict which they reached one hour after the close of his trial with its highly sensational evidence, it was plain that one of not guilty had been reached. Had he been adjudged guilty, Nace would have been brought back and asked the customary question of whether there were any previous convictions on his military record.

ADVOCATE RIDICULES STORY.

The court-martial closed exactly one year and four days after the day Nace claims he was assaulted outside the camp by two German spies, who posed as friends in order to obtain his aviation plans. Then followed his escape, seven months ago, from the submarine on which he had been detained and his return to camp, where since he has been under restraint.

Lieutenant E. H. Ziegler, the trial judge advocate, made a strong attempt to convict Nace in his final summing-up of the case. He intimated that Nace might have been in collusion with the enemy since the war began, declared that he was "shanghaied" on the submarine either with his full consent or deliberately deserted to avoid going across seas and ridiculed Nace's claims to airplanes as preposterous, asking why they had never been submitted to the government.

SHAKE HANDS WITH NACE.

That not a single piece of evidence contradicting the seemingly incredible story of Nace had been introduced by the prosecution was the first point that Lieutenant F. M. Flanagan made in behalf of the accused. His story, said Flanagan, had been corroborated by witnesses for the defence and by the prosecution that was straining every effort to discredit him. He laid stress on the fact that Nace reported immediately to the army authorities at Fort Strong, Va., after swimming ashore from the submarine and asserted that the prisoner did not desert through cowardice. "No man with sand enough to fly an airplane would shirk military duty in time of war," said the counsel.

All the members of the court-martial shook hands with Nace after they had reached their secret verdict. There was a slight hint of tears in the prisoner's eyes as he was escorted to the guardhouse with the consciousness of his acquittal. The formal publication of the case, with the finding of the reviewing authorities, who will probably be Major-General McCain, may not be given out for a week.

Rhenish Republic to Be Proclaimed Tomorrow

By ALFRED G. ANDERSEN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, May 28, via London, May 29.—A Rhenish republic will be proclaimed at Aix-la-Chappelle and Wiesbaden tomorrow, according to plans of the leaders of the movement.

The German cabinet issued a proclamation today giving warning that such an act would be high treason and the penalties were cited. The Independent Socialists and the political party of the right nearly came to blows while making counter charges of responsibility for the secession movement in the Prussian assembly.

Rhenish Prussia, or Rhine Province, is one of the most important and richest districts in Germany, containing great industrial centres, rich coal fields, and many big cities of much commercial importance. The area is 10,423 square miles, and the population is estimated at almost six million.

New York, May 29.—Miss Helen M. Burns, twenty-one, newly appointed New York police officer, is believed to be the youngest policewoman in the world, and perhaps the prettiest. Her job is to look out for erring girls in public dance halls. Commissioner Enright is keeping her "beat" a secret.

BELL TO RING ON DRIVE AT MIDNIGHT

With $250,870 announced at noon today, as collected on Boston's quota of $400,000 in the Salvation Army drive, officials expressed confidence that the goal would be reached by midnight. Brigadier-General Charles H. Cole, who has been in charge of the drive, left for New York during the forenoon. Before his departure he made a statement, expressing faith that later returns would complete the quota, and thanking officials, volunteer collectors and the newspapers for their aid.

"Especially is thanks due to the Boston Lodge of Elks and its committee, of which Judge Thomas H. Dowd was chairman," said General Cole. "To the women's division, headed by Miss Esta Mae Barr, and to the hotel committee, whose leader was Mrs. Harry L. Hagley.

"The drive, however, would never have been possible without the support of the newspapers, and to every newspaper in Boston and New England we express our gratitude."

It is time to think of Oxfords

ALL the famous Emerson models are made in low cut shoes —from the smart fashionable flat English lasts to the medium toe, stylish, conservative shapes. In all leathers too —white washable Kid, Palm Beach Cloth and in soft glove-like Tan and Black leathers.

I never liked for myself an oxford that gaped around the top. After years of designing I perfected Emerson Oxfords so that they fit absolutely snug round the ankle.

"NO-SIR! IT'LL TAKE YOU AWAY FROM AMERICA"

NO 'PEP' IN SOX' PLAY: W-H-Y?

Expert Ed Bang Has It Barrow Unpopular With His Players and No Unity in Camp

By ED BANG.

Cleveland, May 29.—What ails the Boston Red Sox? No doubt Owner Frazee and Greater Boston fandom would like to know.

Picked to repeat in the American League, the World's Champions are floundering around in the second division. Just at present a lot of things are ailing the Red Sox.

In the first place, Babe Ruth is not hitting for a home run when a circuit swat is the most desired wallop in the world.

In the second place, the team lacks spirit, due perhaps in a measure to the poor luck it has bumped against from the very start.

In the third place, and perhaps the most important of all, there does not seem to exist the proper feeling between the players and the directing head. As a matter of fact the club seems to lack entirely a guiding hand, who is willing to take snap judgment and stand by results.

There is no denying the fact that the Boston aggregation is a strong one and has no right being in the second division.

MACK HAD IT RIGHT.

In the Spring it made easy work of the New York Giants, who are now leading the National League race. Remember, however, that in the Spring games against the Giants, Ruth was hitting the ball.

Because of the present state of affairs on the Boston club, one cannot but recall with interest the size-up of the American League race made by Connie Mack at the opening of the season. Here is what he said of Boston's chances:

"Boston has an excellent club, one that is sure to play tight baseball. The pitching staff is not up to the standard of former years, but good enough to win with the breaks that a successful team must get. However, the most vital point in the chances of the Boston club is Babe Ruth. The big fellow must continue his phenomenal work of last year at the bat and in the pitcher's box for the team to be a constant contender. Boston's chances undoubtedly centre around the work of Ruth."

On the showing made by the Red Sox in the first month of the campaign it would seem that Mack made a most wise prophecy.

CLUB NEEDS BABE'S BEST.

Ruth, up to date, has in no way measured up to the Ruth of 1918. True, he has won three games for Boston as a pitcher, yet in two of the games he was extremely lucky to get away with a triumph.

Ruth is suffering from a bad arm. Advance notices had him ailing. His showing Monday against the Indians was conclusive proof that the big south-paw is far from right. His fast ball was as straight as a string and his curve sadly lacked the sharp break of former seasons.

At the bat he has been a big disappointment. His average is around the .260 mark and few of his hits have been of a timely nature. His home run at St. Louis with the bases filled is the only drive he has made so far that has proved the deciding factor in the game.

Ruth has failed to deliver as was expected of him and the Boston Club is holding a second division berth. All of which makes it appear that Mack is a mighty wise individual, even if his club is last.

The master hand of a Bill Carrigan is sadly lacking. There does not seem to be any one willing to take the initiative, when snap judgment is most necessary.

LACK OF UNITY.

When it becomes a question as to whether a man should be passed, whether the infield should play in or out; whether a pinch-hitter would not be a wise move; whether the pitcher wasn't ready for the derrick, there seems to be no one alert and ready to give the orders that the players naturally expect from the power that is.

There's a lack of unity. The players don't seem to know where they really stand. There is no one to whom they look with a certain feeling of respect and regard that a winning team must have for the one who is directing the destinies of the club.

The material is there—a wealth of it; the spirit is there, but lies dormant. It will take another leader with the master hand and strategy of Bill Carrigan to get the Red Sox back in the race, back where they belong.

It wouldn't be at all surprising if Owner Frazee broke into print in large black head lines when the club returned to Boston.

Rogers or Perry Slated to Go Against Mays in Opener With Athletics

Philadelphia, May 29.—The back-sliding Boston Red Sox are here today to open a four-game series with the Athletics, American League's tail-enders.

Tom Rogers or Scott Perry will receive the nomination for today's grapple, while Carl Mays is expected to operate on the slab for Boston.

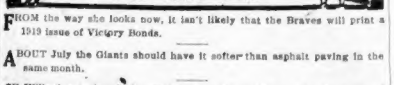
"TWO AND THREE"

FROM the way she looks now, it isn't likely that the Braves will print a 1919 issue of Victory Bonds.

ABOUT July the Giants should have it softer than asphalt paving in the same month.

IF Willard gets knocked bowlegged out in Toledo he can claim it was some other cuckoo out there using his name.

LOOKS like Hawker will have to be rescued all over again from the birds who want to beevo and dine him.



HANK GOWDY has sold out his European interests and will devote his time to developing real estate values around the old home plate.

SINCE winning the championship, Jack Britton has been resting up on one fight a night.

KAISER claims Berlin fans ain't supporting him, in spite of the fact that he was only licked once in four years.

AS the blonde said to the brunette, nobody ever got sore feet dancing the shimmy.

GRIFF chirps that this year's pennant is in. Can't keep Clark away from those fortune tellers.

Spotters.

A BIRD who had the habit of borrowing against his weekly velvet and who was rather gluey in making his payments, was drafted, spent six months in camp, a year in Europe, and came back still thinking that M. P. meant Morris Plan.

GREATEST piece of war surgery was slapping a luxury tax on ginger ale. If that's a luxury, Methuselah was a debutante.

YOU'VE got to admit that the shimmy is the only dance you can do sitting down.

PHILLIES HERE FOR BRAVES SERIES

The westerners have gone, and the Braves now turn to entertain some of their eastern rivals until they conclude the home stand next Tuesday.

The Phillies, who don't stack up as much of a ball club, but who have been winning quite often at that, were on hand this afternoon to start a four-game series.

It was to be the first clash of the teams this year, as the games scheduled earlier over in Philly were all put off by showers and cold weather.

Those Braves, who haven't been impressive for more than two days in a row thus far, should perk up a bit against the Coombs crowd. The team hasn't appeared a bit in comparison with the Cubs and Pirates, both rated much stronger than the present invaders; in fact, the Miracle Men look as if they would develop sufficient class to outlast either of the outfits mentioned. The team, which looks gloomy enough when it is losing, is mighty classy in victory.

What few games have been won have been tossed into the locker in very impressive fashion. Saturday, against the Pirates, the Braves were real champions. Yesterday, against the Cubs, they were the same thing. They were certain and confident all the time, and had the other fellows on the defensive.

The team did some long hitting while beating those Cubs, 6 to 4. Hoc Stanwyck and Powell each blazed out a lusty triple, blows that were sure enough homers, had they not brought up against barriers or been halted by slow ground.

The shifting of blackburns to third, vice Smith, undoubtedly will speed up the infield. Lena is a grand fielder, and has one of the best arms in the game. He is not a hitter like Smith, but Bud has not been clicking them at all this season, so no extra punch is being removed.

Mahoney Back with B. C.

Bill Mahoney, one of Boston College's slugging outfielders, has been reinstated by the faculty athletic bodies and will again be playing him regularly.

STAR HORSES IN CHESTNUT HILL CONTESTS

The Chestnut Hill Horse Show will be held as usual this year on the grounds of the Longwood Cricket Club at Chestnut Hill tomorrow. The judging will start at 10 a. m. and continue all day.

A recess will be taken from 12:45 to 2:15 for lunch. Music will be furnished during the afternoon by the Salem Cadet Band.

This year the show has one of the largest entries of horses that it has ever had, having practically 200 different entries. Major-General Clarence R. Edwards will exhibit for the first time his new horse, Y. D.

Louis C. Liggett is one of the most prominent exhibitors, with a large string of entries. Other prominent exhibitors will be Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Adie, Baron DeBruegger, Misses Sally and Elizabeth Sprague, Miss Gertrude Bradley, Elmer J. Bliss, Henry G. Vaughan, Edwin S. Webster, Jr., Miss Muriel Saltonstall, Mrs. George S. Mumford and practically all of the other prominent exhibitors around these parts.

Part of the proceeds will be used, as has always been customary, for charitable purposes, and it is expected that with good weather, one of the most successful shows ever given at Chestnut Hill will be held.

K. OF C. PUTS ON TIDY BOXING SHOW TONIGHT

The Knights of Columbus will conduct a boxing tournament for the benefit of the crews of the Submarine Scout Patrols, recently returned from overseas, and the crews of the ships engaged in transporting troops from France to Boston, at the Army Base, South Boston, tonight. In addition to the performers of local fame, four boys who excelled in contests held "over there" will be seen in action.

The Submarine Jass Band, composed entirely of men who did their bit on the scout patrols, will furnish the music.

CORNELL SQUAD ARRIVES FOR BIG MEET

The collegiate athletic flyers and strong men are hitting the trail towards the Hub today for the big meet 'n Harvard Stadium tomorrow and Saturday.

Cornell, the first team to arrive, was planning to jog along the grass plot in Cambridge this afternoon, while its field men were to take a little exercise in their respective events. Jack Moakley's bunch is stopping at the Vendome.

Among Cornell's stars are Walker Smith, runner up in both hurdles last year; Bob Felter, champion broad jumper; Captain Ivan Dresser, who won the two-mile a year ago; Jack Watt, another tidy hurdler; Hill Coleman, half miler and Jim Ramsey high jumper. Many of the forecasters are picking Cornell to land the title.

In the Pennsylvania squad, which puts up at the Lenox tonight, will be Captain Creed Haymond, the noted sprinter; Everett Smalley, hurdler; Elmer Smith, the Boston boy, who is a side partner of Marvin Gustafson in the quarter and half; Warren Hampton, the jumper; Fred Davis, sprinter and jumper; Bartels and Thibault.

YALE MINUS CAPTAIN.

The Yale squad will also stop at the Lenox. It will probably be minus the services of Captain Jim Braden, whose shoulder was dislocated in the general mixup between the town and gown at New Haven Tuesday.

Sheddon, hurdler; Jones, sprinter; Priser, quarter-miler; Heffenger, half-miler; O'Brien, half-miler; Waterman, miler; Landon, broad and high jumper; Artemus Gates, Jim Otis and Jack Acomb, weight men; and Ford, Sweeney and Parker, pole vaulters, are other Yale dependables.

The Michigan whirlwinds include; Carl Johnson, peerless jumper and hurdler, as well as tidy sprinter; Bobby Losch, sprint star; Cross, pole vaulter; Lawrie Butler, quarter-miler; Captain Sedgewick, two-miler, and Baker, weight man. The Ann Arborites will reach the city tonight.

New York University's trio, Harold Finley, Dwight Stinson and Joseph Zonser, will stop at the Adams House while Georgetown's five entries, Bob LeGendre, Frank McDonough, Art McCann, Ignatius Waeder and Gene Lloyd, will put up at the Lenox.

JOHNS HOPKINS TRIO.

Captain Beverly Smith, J. R. Bartels and Bill Mullikan of Johns Hopkins have been assigned rooms at the Parker House, while Bellerjeau, De Witt, Rice, Barbegeon, Brackley, Pratt and Summerill of Rutgers will stay at the Copley Square.

Kenneth Low, New England hurdling champion; Rob Keeney, John Gillis and Frank Wing, Amherst's entries, will arrive tomorrow noon and report at the Lenox.

Other teams are on their way to Cambridge, but have not yet notified the management of their plans.

DRISCOLL HURTS WRIST AND GOES TO SIDELINES

The Boston College track team received a severe blow to its prospects in the dual meet with Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, tomorrow afternoon, when Jake Driscoll put in his appearance with a badly injured wrist. His left arm is in a splint, and he will be forced to take a vacation from athletics.

Driscoll captured the quarter at the New England I. A. A. A. meet and the furlong and quarter at the eastern meet. His loss means a matter of some fifteen odd points left in doubt, and considerably dampens Boston College's chances for victory.

Jim Fitzpatrick Has Rival

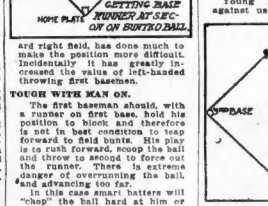
Worcester, May 29.—McLaughlin, Holy Cross' freshman pitcher, is the big hero at the college today following his feat of pitching a no-run, no-hit game against Colby. The Purple is blocked from advancing until the one on second moves, and the first baseman therefore need not attempt to hold him so closely to the bag.

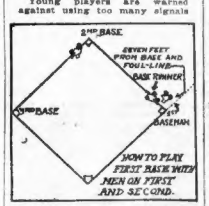
He can then drop back of the base seven or eight feet and play inside the foul line the same distance and be in perfect tactical position to come from behind the runner quickly and receive a surprise throw from the pitcher. This play, however, never should be attempted except upon signal, preferably from the catcher or by prearrangement with the pitcher.

THROW IS RISKY.

No such throw is successful against an alert base runner if made by the pitcher save on signal and when the throw is made without looking toward the base. This makes it risky. The throw from the catcher, especially when made on a pitch-out, is extremely effective, but also dangerous unless the first baseman is expert at taking throws while coming forward at full speed.

Young players are warned against using too many signals





How to Play Baseball

THIS is the fourth of a series of 100 articles by Hugh S. Fullerton, celebrated baseball expert, on "How to Play Baseball." In this lesson, Mr. Fullerton tells how a first baseman should field bunted balls. These articles will be a feature of the American sport pages each day. Don't miss them.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

It is absolutely necessary for successful first base play that the first baseman establish an absolute understanding with the pitchers as to covering the base and handling bunts.

In the modern game bunting toward first base, both with the bases clear and with runners on them, is a large part of the successful system of attack.

The bunt and run, combined with hitting behind runners toward right field, has done much to make the position more difficult. Incidentally it has greatly increased the value of left-handed throwing first basemen.

TOUGH WITH MAN ON.

The first baseman should, with a runner on first base, hold his position to block and therefore is not in best condition to leap forward to field bunts. His play is to rush forward, scoop the ball and throw to second to force out the runner. There is extreme danger of overrunning the ball, and advancing too far.

In this case smart batters will "chop" the ball hard at him or attempt to "push bunt" and drive the ball through the advancing fielder who, coming at top speed, will not be able to field it.

It is best to make no effort to advance beyond ground five feet and if the bunt is shorter than that, to permit the pitcher or catcher to handle the ball and return to first base to cover the bag. With runners on both first and second the first baseman is not so heavily handicapped in his fielding as when there is but one on the bags. The runner on first or attempting complicated plays. The safe rule in this case is not to make a throw unless certain that all involved understand the play and when the base runner is taking too great risks in running down the line as the ball is pitched.

BARNEY SNYDER AND DYSON ON IN TITLE GO

By RINGSIDE

Young Dyson, a vest pocket edition of the original Terry McGovern, and Barney Snyder of Roxbury will battle 15-rounds for the bantamweight championship of New England at Marlboro tonight.

It is the first 15-round encounter offered the Massachusetts boxing fans in years. These two youths recently fought two brilliant rounds to a draw at Lynn. The contest will be at 118 pounds, the division's rightful, if modern, limit. Both boxers have forfeits posted with the American.

Dyson only scaled 114 pounds for his last tussle with Snyder, having "worried" off three pounds after ending his training. He will be at 118 pounds tonight, and, as a result, will possess all his strength when he enters the ring.

There should be few idle moments when Johnny Clinton, New York lightweight, and Louis Bogash of Bridgeport, go over the jumps in a twelve-round contest at the Commercial A. C. tomorrow night. When these boys last fought here, at the Armory A. A., Clinton won a close decision. They later had an even battle at Bridgeport. Both are good punchers and willing workers, and should furnish a merry tilt.

The rest of the Commercial Club's card follows: Young Cahill of Everett vs. Mike DiMio of the North End, six rounds; Frank Tillo of the North End vs. Terry Trainor of Boston, six rounds; Joe O'Connell of Brockton vs. Joe Flynn of the North End, eight rounds.

A large delegation of Greater Boston fans will be at the ringside when Jack Britton, world's welterweight champion, and Young Ahearn meet in a twelve-round tussle before the Crescent A. C. of Lowell tomorrow night.

Britton has proved his right to be considered one of the marvels of the ring. Ahearn, too, is a high-grade performer and has bested some of the boxing game's leading men.

Britton is among those who have been outpointed by Ahearn. The two met in a Brooklyn ring six years ago and the press reports of the encounter gave the honors to Joe McCarthy's Dancing Master.

OHIO LEGISLATORS NOW PLAN ATTENDING FIGHT

Columbus, O., May 29.—The bill to stop the Willard-Dempsey bout, introduced in the Ohio legislature last week by Representative R. C. Dunn, was again tabled, failing to receive the necessary two-thirds majority vote to take it up for consideration. Representative Dunn threatens to take the bill up again today or tomorrow.

There is a movement among the lawmakers to adopt a resolution to attend the fight in a body "in order to get light for future guidance in legislation."

FIELD OF 17 ENTERED IN RUN ON HOLIDAY

A field comprising seventeen runners will compete in the annual five-mile handicap run conducted under the auspices of the Watertown Arsenal A. A. at the Riverside Recreation Grounds, Auburndale, tomorrow afternoon.

SCHOOLBOY SPORTS

JIMMY CASSELL,
BOSTON COLLEGE HIGH.
Baseball, basketball and track.

JIMMY CASSEL is rated as one of the best twirlers in school-boy circles this season, and his clever work has done a lot in put the James street school up at the top. He also plays basketball, and is a shot-putter on the track team. This is only his second year at the school and he should turn out to be a wonder.

Newton High won from Medford High and increased its lead to two and a half games in the Suburban League race, thus practically clinching the pennant. Medford threw away two good chances to stage winning rallies. The final count was 3-1.

One of the prettiest plays of the season was pulled off by Newton, With Medford men on first and third, the short throw was tried when the man on first started for second. The runner on third tried to score and was caught, while the man going from first kept on to third, and was also nailed. Although not an intricate play the accuracy and speed with which it was executed made it a great one.

Fred Sawyer was forced to go the limit in the game with Medford. He showed his class by coming through with an air-tight game after working four innings in the game the day before.

Jim Prior pitched a fine game against Newton, but a hit and a couple of errors in the seventh inning beat him. Only four hits were made off his delivery.

Dowd is playing second base again for Somerville. He was in the outfield for several games on account of a split finger.

* * *

The track meet and Spring regatta come next week. The trials in the track meet will be held at Wood Island Park and the finals on Tech Field.

HON. JESS SAYS HE WILL FOOL SMART SET

Los Angeles, May 29.—Jess Willard, heavyweight champion of the world, is en route for Toledo, Ohio, where he will defend his title against Jack Dempsey July 4. He plans to stop one day at his home in Kansas, arriving at Toledo next Wednesday or Thursday.

Willard was all smiles when he boarded the train. The big fellow has been doing enough work to put himself in good condition and was interested in the surprise he figures he will spring on Eastern and Middle West experts who have been doping him to lose his title.

Willard declared he would lose no time in getting down to work when he arrives on the scene of battle.

The thirteenth annual field day of the Knights of St. Finbar will be held tomorrow on Russell Field, North Cambridge.

Among the long list of entries is the 12-mile road race is Carl Linder, winner of the B. A. A. marathon. Gillespie, the sturdy Chicago runner who led for twenty-two miles in the Patriots' Day grind, will also be there. Willie Kyronen of New York is another important entrant.

The one-mile relay race promises to be an exciting event. Seven counties will be represented as follows: Cork, Carlow, Mayo, Roscommon, Leinster, Galway and Wexford. Ex-Mayor Curley will start the race. He has donated a silver cup which will be awarded the winning team.

STICK TO UNION-MADE CIGARS

Tobacco prices are still high—and the new government tax must be considered in the cost of their production.

Prices of all cigars have increased in consequence—but QUALITY and WORKMANSHIP of the Union-Made Cigars have been kept to the same former high standard.

Every member of the Cigar Makers' Union is pledged to continue to give the same high quality of labor that has made Union-Made Cigars famous. Workmanship that can be produced only by such men—each trained for years in the ART of cigar making.

It is an unwritten code among members of the Cigar Makers' Union to put their workmanship on only the best of tobacco.

Union-Made Cigars have always been the best buy for the money. They are now the sure cigar to buy.

The reputation that Boston always has had in producing the best in cigars will always hold good—and is responsible for the industry being the second largest in Boston. One should feel a certain pride when they buy a Union-Made Cigar. It shows your good judgment cannot be swayed and a penny or two one way or the other cannot keep you from choosing the best in smokes.

Willard's Old Manager Picks Him to Win Over Dempsey

Toledo, May 29.—Tom Jones still retains his admiration for Jess Willard's ring prowess, despite his split with the champion after piloting him to victory over Jack Johnson at Havana. Jones says that the only chance Dempsey has to win the title is to land a knockout.

"I am not taking any credit away from Dempsey," Jones said, "but Willard is too big for him. With his tremendous size an great hitting power, a knowledge of boxing that will surprise his enemies and the ability to take punishment, if compelled to, he presents a battle front that cannot be penetrated.

Trainer Jimmy De Forest sent Dempsey along a bit farther than he has been travelling. The challenger boxed eight rounds, taking on Bill Tate, Davis and Keller.

Boxing News and Notes

Young Ahearn showed enough class in his encounters with Phil Rolfe, Battling Nelson of Brooklyn and George Robinson to warrant his backers to declare he has as good a chance of winning over Britton as any 142-150 pound boxer in the country.

After his contest with Britton, Ahearn will take a short rest before starting training for his return contest with George Robinson. It will be staged at the Armory A. A. June 10.

Following his victories over Johnny Gray, Johnny Buckley, Young Suggs and Johnny Noonan, Dan McCormack of East Boston believes he would also be able to conquer Charley Parker, Rocky End lightweight. McCormack's boxing skill, plus his ruggedness and ability to score a damaging blow, would enable him to make things mighty interesting for Parker, all right, all right.

Here's a chance for Marty Killilea to get a little action for Johnny Wilson, whom, he says, has been sidestepped by all the New England middleweights. Jim McDonald asserts he is prepared to let George Robinson clash with the Charlestown scrapper at any club where proper terms can be secured.

Copyright, 1917, by Robert W. Chambers

"WATCH him! The waiter who is taking his order may know who you are—may be telling that gambler. . . . I believe he did! Now, let us see what happens. . . ."

Sengoun, delighted at the prospect of an eventuality, blandly emptied his goblet and smiled generally upon everybody.

"I hope he will make our acquaintance and ask us to play," he said. "I'm very lucky at chemin-de-fer. And if I lose I shall console that there is trickery. Which would make it very lively for everybody," he added, with a boyish smile. But his dark eyes began to glitter and he showed his beautiful, even teeth when he laughed.

"Ha!" he said. "A little what you call a mix-up might not come amiss! That gives one an appetite; that permits one to perspire; that does good to everybody and makes one sleep soundly! Shall we, as you say in America, start something?"

Might Be Rendezvous

Neeland, thinking of Ali-Baba and Golden Beard and of their undoubted instigation by telegraph of the morning's robbery, wondered whether the rendezvous of the robbers might not possibly be here in the Cafe des Bulgars.

The gang of Americans in the train had named Kastner, Braslau and Welsheim—the one man of the gang whom he had never seen—as prospective partners in this enterprise.

Here, somewhere in this building, were their gambling headquarters. Was there any possible chance that the stolen box and its contents might have been brought here for temporary safety?

Might it not now be hidden somewhere in this very building by man too cunning to risk leaving the city when every train and every road would be watched within an hour of the time that the robbery was committed?

"I see," muttered Sengoun; "it is already Sunday morning, and they're closing. It's too late to go to the embassy. They'd not let us in here when we returned."

Neeland summoned a waiter with a nod:

"When do you up inside here?"

"Tomorrow being Sunday, the terrace closes now, monsieur; but the cafe remains open all night," explained the waiter with a noticeable German accent.

"Thank you." And, to Sengoun: "I'd certainly like to go upstairs. I'd like to see what it looks like up there—take a glance around."

"Very well, let us go up——"

"We ought to have some excuse——"

"We'll think of several on the way," rising with alacrity, but Neeland pulled him back.

"Wait a moment! It would only mean a fight——"

"All fights," explained Sengoun seriously, "are agreeable — some more so. So if you are ready, dear comrade——"

"My dear Prince Erlik, we've nothing to shoot with, and it's likely they have. There's only one way to get upstairs with any chance of learning anything useful. And that is to start a row between ourselves." And, raising his voice as though irritated, he called for the reckoning, adding in a tone perfectly audible to anybody in the vicinity that he knew where roulette was played, and that he was going whether or not his friend accompanied him.

Sengoun, delighted, recognized his cue and protested in loud, nasal tones that the house to which his comrade referred was suspected of unfair play; and a noisy dispute began, listened to attentively by the pretty but brightly painted cashier, the waiters, the gerant, and every guest in the neighborhood.

"As for me," cried Sengoun, feigning to lose his temper, "I have no intention of being tricked. I was not born yesterday—not I! If there is to be found an honest wheel in Paris that would suit me. Otherwise, I go home to bed!"

Neeland, maintaining his gravity with difficulty, followed Sengoun toward the door, still pretending to plead with him; and the gerant, a tall, blond, rosy and unmistakable German, stepped forward to unlock the door.

As he laid his hand on the bolt he said in a whisper:

"If the gentleman desire the privilege of an exclusive club, where everything is unquestionably conducted——"

"Where?" demanded Neeland, abruptly.

"On the third floor, monsieur."

"Here?"

"Certainly, sir. If the gentlemen will honor me with their names, and will be seated for one little moment, I shall see what can be accomplished."

A few moments later the gerant returned and, in a low voice, requested them to accompany him.

They passed leisurely through the cafe, between tables where lowered eyes seemed to deny any curiosity; but guests and waiters looked after them after they had passed, and here and there people whispered together, particularly two men who had followed them from the sundial fountain in the rue Soleil d'Or to the Jardin Russe, across the Place de la Concorde, and into the Cafe des Bulgars in the rue Vilna.

CHAPTER XXXI.

The Cercle Extranationale.

THE suite of rooms into which they were ushered appeared to be furnished in irreproachable taste. Except for the salon at the further end of the suite, where play was in progress, and a charming apartment might have been a private one; and the homelike simplicity of the room, where books, flowers and even a big, grey cat confirmed the first agreeable impression, accented the lurking smile on Sengoun's lips.

Doo Curfoot, in evening dress, came forward to receive them, in company with another man, young, nice-looking, very straight, and with the high, square shoulders of a Prussian.

"Bong soire mussoors," said Curfoot genially. "Tal Yhonnoor de vous faire connaitre mong ami, Mussoor Welsheim."

They exchanged very serious bows with "Mussoor" Welsheim, and Curfoot retired.

In excellent French Welsheim inquired whether they desired proper; and learning that they did not, bowed smilingly and bade them welcome:

"You are at home, gentlemen; the house is yours. If it pleases you to sup, we offer you our hospitality; if you care to play, the salon is at your disposal, or, if you prefer, a private room. Yonder is the buffet; there are electric bells at your elbow. You are at home," he repeated, clicked his heels together, bowed and took his leave.

Sengoun dropped into a comfortable chair and sent a waiter for caviar, toast and German champagne.

Neeland lighted a cigarette, seated himself and looked about him curiously.

Over in a corner on a sofa a rather pretty woman, a cigarette between her jewelled fingers, was reading an evening paper. Two others in the adjoining room, young and attractive, their feet on the fireplace fender, conversed together over a sandwich, a glass of the widely advertised Dubonnet, and another of equally advertised Bon Lait Magri—as serenely and as comfortably as thought they were by their own fireSides.

"Perhaps they are," remarked Sengoun, plastering an oblong of hot toast with caviar. "Birds of this kind nest easily anywhere."

Neeland continued to gaze toward the salon where play was in progress. There did not seem to be many people there. At a table he recognized Brandes and Stull playing what appeared to be bridge whist with two men whom he had never before seen. There were no women playing.

Stolen Papers

As he watched the round, expressionless face of Brandes, who was puffing a long cigar screwed tightly into the corner of his ill-shaped mouth, it occurred to him somewhat tardily what Rue Carew had said concerning personal danger to himself if any of these people believed him capable of reconstructing from memory any of the stolen plans.

He had not thought about that specific contingency; instinct alone had troubled him a little when he first entered the Cafe des Bulgars.

However, his unquiet eyes could discover nothing of either Kastner or Braslau; and, somehow, he did not even think of encountering Ilse Dumont in such a place. Brandes and Stull, they did not recognize him at all.

So, entirely reassured once more by the absence of Ali-Baba and Golden Beard, and of Scheherazade whom he had no fear of meeting, Neeland ate his caviar with relish and examined his surroundings.

Of course it was perfectly possible that the stolen papers had been brought here. There were three other floors in the building, too, and he wondered what they were used for.

Neeland glanced curiously at the girl on the sofa who was still preoccupied with her newspaper.

So he rose, sauntered about the room examining the few pictures and bronzes, modern but excellent. The carpet under foot was thick and soft, but, as he strolled past the girl who seemed to be so intently reading, she looked up over her paper and returned his civil recognition of her presence with a slight smile.

The Best Way to Use Rouge

The specialist who created the wonderful La-may Face Powder has invented a new rouge. The rouge is inside the puff. All you do is to rub the puff on your face. It comes through the puff just as you need it. It goes on splendidly and stays on the face until you wash it off. The puff is in a dainty metal box. The box cannot break and the rouge will not crumble like the old-fashioned kind. This newly invented rouge is called La-may (French, Rouge L'Ame). It gives a beautiful color that looks natural under the strongest light. There are two colors—medium and dark. The fifty-cent package will last six months, yet the box is small enough to fit your purse. When you use this pure, harmless Rouge and see how much better it stays on, you will understand why thousands of women say it is the best they have ever used. Because La-may Rouge is so new, your dealer may not have it yet, but he can easily get it. Show this notice to your dealer, and if he refuses to get you a package you may order by mail from Herbert Boyston, 16 E. 18th St., New York.

Smart Sports Clothes

By Rita Stuyvesant

THESE after-the-war days have brought out a host of sport-loving people — men who are out of khaki and girls who can substitute a gay costume for the service uniform of the past. The golf links and tennis courts of the various country clubs are dotted with enthusiastic players in smart, yet practical, sport clothes. And such an endless variety of materials and styles to choose from, that there is sure to be a becoming model for every type of figure. The shops are "welcoming home" the sport suits after an absence of nearly two years, and it soon promises to be a gay time in sportland.

There is the girl who cannot get away from the idea that a costume for outdoor wear should consist of a smart skirt, tailored blouse and a warm sweater. For this girl there is a block plaid wool skirt, featuring black, orange and tan, and is laid in broad box plaits to give the necessary fullness. Other plaid skirts are cut two pieces and buttoned up the sides, with black bone buttons. To give freedom of motion three or four buttons are left unfastened. Black silk soutache braid accentuates the belt and smart slit pockets.

Trim tailored blouses of tub silk are favoring the high collar and striped four-in-hand tie for outdoor wear. However, many women find the low collar indispensable for warm weather and there are some attractive blouses with trundown collars, both round and square.

Sweaters and sport hats owe their charm to the lovely fabrics which fashion them and the clever details of design. Knitted sweaters promise to be popular again this season, and are shown in both the coat and slipon models with long knitted vests. To wear with the sweaters are becoming little hats of gray wool, brightened with worsted flowers and odd fancies. Among the newest colors are dust, heavy raspberry, carrot, pumpkin, Foch blue, flame, violet and various shades of green.

Strawberry Is With Us

HINTS ON USING THE LUSCIOUS FRUIT

By Loretto C. Lynch.

ARE you going to make the most of strawberry season?

Perhaps one of the nicest ways of serving berries is "a la natural." When the berries come into the house put them into a strainer and rinse them gently with cold water. Then hull them. If the berries are hulled before they are washed they "bleed" and a certain amount of delicious juice is lost. Sprinkle generously with powdered sugar and let stand an hour or more. Serve thoroughly chilled.

Of course every one wants strawberry shortcake while berries are at their best. Shortcake, as the name indicates, is cake containing a good bit of shortening. If you can afford it, use butter for shortening. Even part butter will give a better flavor than no flavor at all. Here is a short-cake recipe from a tea room famous for its shortcakes.

All measurements level. A standard half-pint measuring cup is used. Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons fine sugar, ¼ cup butter, ¾ cup milk (about). Mix and sift the dry ingredients. With the tips of the fingers rub in the butter. Cut in enough milk to make a soft dough. Shape into a rectangle about three-fourths of an inch in thickness and bake on a greased sheet in a quick oven about twelve minutes. Split into two layers while hot.

Place out, sweetened berries in the under layer. Place the upper layer on and press it down gently. Place whole berries over the top. Serve hot with sweetened crushed strawberry juice or serve cold with whipped cream.

In making a shortcake the dough must be handled very gently. If it is tossed about or kneaded like bread dough, the handling develops the gluten in the flour and the cake is invariably crusty and tough.

The amateur cook frequently wants to see the shortcake "brown up." To obtain this browning, she leaves the cake in the oven over long. If the oven is hot enough the cake should be baked through in twelve to fifteen minutes if it is patted to the thickness of not more than three-fourths of an inch. Over baking has a tendency to crisp and toughen the crust.

You may belong to one of those good old churches who raise money for various worthy causes by having a "Strawberry Festival." Here is a novelty I saw at a fair in a country where strawberries grow like weeds. They are called "strawberry kisses."

Beat until stiff the white of a fresh egg. Beat in very gradually sufficient fine, white confectioner's sugar to make a soft fondant. Color it pink with a very little strawberry juice.

Rinse off some perfect berries and let them dry. Hold each berry by the stem and dip into thin fondant. Place them on wax paper to dry.

A Treat for His Wife

"Can I believe my eyes?" exclaimed Mr. James as he confronted the burglar. "Mrs. James had been sent down in the middle of the night to investigate a strange noise. The burglar produced a revolver, but Mr. James grabbed his hand. "Don't!" he said, giving the hand a cordial shake. "You don't know how much I'm interested in you. Stay a while. I want you to meet Mrs. James." "While you are calling a policeman! Not me!" retorted the burglar. "No," said Mr. James. "I just want you to stay while I call my wife. She's heard you at work every night for twenty years, and this is the first chance she's ever had of seeing you!"

LEMON JUICE FOR FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.—Advertisement.

TODAY'S BEAUTY TALK

You can enjoy a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost, if you get from your druggists a package of cantrox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid—enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and hair until both are entirely covered by the daintily perfumed preparation that thoroughly dissolves and removes every bit of dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing the hair dries quickly with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and takes on a rich luster and a softness that makes arranging it a pleasure.—Advertisement.

A NEW SERIAL BY A FAMOUS WRITER

SOMETHING in the open, direct gaze of the blue eyes reassured Samuel Leighton, and he nodded, as if satisfied.

"That's all right," he said. "You may go now, Smith. But no, wait an instant. You ask me not to tell any one you have been in the service. I have agreed to this. I will ask Miss Leighton to do the same. But, of course, if either of us is questioned about you, we must speak the truth."

"You would hardly be questioned," David asserted.

"I am not so sure of that. It would be quite natural for one to ask why, in this day, a well set-up young man is driving a private car instead of——"

He paused.

"Instead of an ambulance," David supplied. "But surely nobody would be likely to question a gentleman about a common chauffeur."

"But, Smith, you are not a common chauffeur!" the words escaped Leighton involuntarily. Before he could retract them the man to whom they were addressed lifted his head proudly and his eyes flashed.

"Excuse me, sir, that it just what I am—that and that only! And—forgive me if I say it—unless I am that I have no business in your employ. You have been most considerate, but I feel that I should take another place unless matters can be agreed upon between us just now."

The DeLaine blood was roused. Suddenly David felt that he would throw over the whole enterprise sooner than be questioned and suspected and interfered with as to his private affairs.

He was perfectly willing to take orders about his work. That was legitimate. His private life was his own.

"Perhaps," he added, "you would prefer that I look for another place?"

"Not at all, not at all!" Samuel Leighton assured him.

He found himself all at once very averse to letting this independent young man leave his employ. Yet he had a vague idea that he ought to be angry with him.

"You see, sir," David went on more calmly, "I am here to drive your cars and obey your orders about them. In other words, I am a machine to perform the services for which you engaged me. But beyond that I am nothing to you—so long, of course," with a slight twinkle in the blue eyes—"as I am a decent chap—and I hope I am that. At all events, you will know whether I am or not when you get my references."

If Leighton had had any anger toward his employe, this last speech dissipated it, for he laughed aloud.

"That's all right, Smith! We've talked a long time over what really amounts to very little. I fancy we'll get along all right. In fact, I have very little doubt of it. And now you may go. That's all I have to say. Good-night!"

"Good-night, sir!" the new chauffeur said deferentially.

To Be Continued.

What He Was

"This prisoner refuses to give his occupation, sir," remarked the police officer to the magistrate.

"Why don't you say what you are?" asked the magistrate to the individual in the dock.

"Cos it's superflus, ain't it?" was the grinning reply.

"I do not understand you," returned the magistrate, with dignity.

"No?" said the prisoner, with elevated eyebrows. "Then you're as bad as the police themselves, if you'll 'excuse me sayin' so, sir. May I ask what the charge against me is?"

"You are charged with stealing a table and two chairs," said the magistrate.

"Then there yer are," grinned the cheerful gentleman in the dock. "I'm a furniture remover, ain't I?"

Musical Taste

Composer: "I've got a new song that's bound to make a hit." Concert manager: "Any sense in it?" "None at all." "Any fun in it?" "Not a bit." "Any music in it?" "Not a note." "Quite right! You've got a success!"

No Medicine-Chest Without Its Family Laxative

From the baby to the grandparents a good laxative is the necessary medicine in the little ills. It wards off serious sickness and saves doctor's bills. Many a cold has been prevented from running into grippe and pneumonia by its timely use.

Many a racking headache has been quickly dispelled by it. And it is a laxative rather than a drastic cathartic or purgative that should be in every family medicine-chest, for a laxative can be used at all ages.

Thousands of good American families have for more than a quarter century used a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known to druggists as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a laxative-tonic that acts on the bowels and stomach. Infants take it with perfect safety, and it is equally effective for grownups.

Grandparents are now seeing their children give it to their babies. It is excellent for all the family in constipation no matter how chronic, indigestion, wind colic, biliousness, headaches, dyspepsia and similar ills.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the War, no sacrificing media and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 20 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

Stocks Advance in an Active New York Market

RAILS ADVANCE DURING THE MORNING

American Woolen Common Gains Six Points and Sells at Record Highest

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong at noon and prices at that time were close to the best for the morning. Among the strongest issues were Southern Pacific, Reading, American Woolen common, Crucible, Mexican Petroleum, Texas Co., Baldwin, Nova Scotia Steel and Associated Dry Goods. They were from one to more than six points above Wednesday's closing price. U. S. Steel opened with a gain, receded and showed a loss of a fraction before rallying. At the end of the forenoon it was up a fraction, after ranging from 107¼ to 108⅛. Rails were a strong group in the second hour. After a period of irregularity oils developed strength.

American Woolen common sold at its highest record price, advancing more than six points to 95⅝ at its highest. Among issues to sell at their year's highest were Reading, Southern Pacific and Crucible.

Rubbers ruled a little lower by noontime, while motors had receded slightly as a class. There was no strength in the copper list. California Packing was about the only active issue to decline a point.

PRICES HIGHER AT OPENING.

The market opened with the great majority of issues selling higher and demand from the "outside" unabated. Early gains ruled small, but the range broadened within a few minutes, when trading increased in activity. The price movement was steadily upward during the first hour, regarding the list as a whole. "The most important feature of the trading at the opening," says a New York dispatch, "was the usual incident to a continued bull movement—the recovery of dividends."

Among stocks to sell ex-dividend were U. S. Steel, American Smelting, Canadian Pacific, United Cigar Stores preferred, Crex Carpet, Greene-Cananea, Southern Pacific, Norfolk & Western, American Telegraph and Cable, Diamond Match, California Packing, Savage, Eastman, Kodak common and preferred, American Express, Erie & Pittsburgh, and Ajax Rubber.

Among issues to show largest gains at the start were Marine preferred and Tobacco Products, while the most active issues included them and Southern Pacific, Corn Products and U. S. Steel.

BEARS ARE ASTONISHED.

The element which has been operating for a decline are astonished at the long continued advance without any setback at all serious in character, and especially by the national extent of the demand for stocks. The latter is from the great army of people termed the "public." Their power to absorb securities seems unlimited and has impressed no class more than the important financiers who have been selling to realize profits. On the eve of a three-day holiday the market showed less hesitation than is usual just before the closing of exchanges for a long period. While the market was active during the morning, transactions were of less volume than previously this week. Sales for the first hour totalled about 360,000 shares.

Cotton Lower at Opening

New York, May 29.—Cotton prices were 6 to 14 points lower at the opening, Liverpool and spot houses selling. There was unloading by commission houses, owing to unsettled weather, but local bulls absorbed some of the offerings and there was buying also on account of French interests which helped steady the market. At the end of twenty minutes prices were about 15 points net lower. Opening prices were: July, 31.80; Oct., 30.80; Dec., 30.37; Jan., 30.02; March, 29.80.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, May 29.—Corn opened ⅛c to 4⅝c lower. Oats were ½c to ⅝c lower. Provisions opened higher. Opening prices were: Corn, May, 1.76; July, 1.64 to 1.64¼; Sept., 1.55½ to 1.56. Oats, July, 67⅛ to 67¼; Sept., 64. Lard, July, 31.95.

AMOSKEAG UP 8 POINTS IN BOSTON

Firmness marked local trading at the beginning and early business had breadth. Amoskeag was the morning feature in Boston, it advancing eight points before the end of the second hour. Among other issues to show large gains on the local bourse were Massachusetts Gas, Swift & Co. and Pacific Mills. Most of the changes were fractional, however.

There was no strength for coppers as a class, and mining issues as a rule eased off. The announcement that the Massachusetts Gas Company will enter oil was reflected during the forenoon by an advance of more than two points for that issue.

Mayflower and Old Colony and Wolverine were mines to advance, each selling at its year's highest. Among the most active issues were United Shoe, Bigheart, Swift & Co. and Helvetia. Bigheart showed a small gain and Waldorf a fractional loss. Gray & Davis was quiet, but sold higher.

The Country Needs a New Party

Significant Action of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor

Copyright, 1919, Star Company.

The Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor held a very interesting and significant convention in Harrisburg a few days ago.

One act of this convention of great interest and significance was the unanimous passage of a resolution denouncing the policy of America and the allies in Russia and demanding the withdrawal of American troops and the immediate lifting of the blockade which is daily starving thousands of little Russian babies and their weakened mothers, who have never offended us, whose country is not at war with us, and whose people have laid down more lives in the war against Germany than any two of the allied countries combined.

Another significant and interesting act of this convention of organized labor in Pennsylvania is the vote amid tremendous-enthusiasm in favor of a third party upon the ground that neither the Democratic nor the Republican party afford any hope whatever for the workers or for the average man in America.

Who can doubt that these leaders of the workers of Pennsylvania have acted wisely in these two important resolutions?

Who can doubt that both the Democratic and the Republican party are at present bankrupt with respect to any adequate program of reform and reconstruction?

Who can doubt that both parties have sunken to the depths of mere time serving; that both parties have become organizations merely to put ambitious individuals into public office?

The record of the Democrat party is uninspiring, with its repression of free speech and of free press, with injury it has done the cause of public operation of public utilities through a deliberate abandonment by the Democratic President of all leadership in any program of internal improvement, with the responsibility which it must take for the imperialistic treaty which is being forced upon Europe and which is the most brutal peace treaty that was ever imposed by a victor upon a vanquished nation in the modern world. One of our notoriously rabid pro-British papers in America has just declared with barbarous delight that the peace treaty with Germany is the most destructive since Rome imposed her peace upon vanquished Carthage over two thousand years ago. Certainly it is the most undemocratic peace that was ever conceived in the modern world. In some respects it is more brutal than the partition of Poland, for it gives the British the right, without restraint of definite regulations, to control Germany's internal trade for the next generation, which means that the British commercial interests will hold the German people in slavery so long as British commercial interests can make money by it.

The Democratic party must take the responsibility for such a peace, made in utter violation of every democratic principle and of every profession which President Wilson, the leader of the Democratic party, made to satisfy the conscience of the American people during the war. The Democratic party must take the responsibility for such a peace after its leader had loudly declared that "A VICTOR'S TERMS IMPOSED UPON THE VANQUISHED WOULD BE ACCEPTED IN HUMILIATION, UNDER DURESS, AT AN INTOLERABLE SACRIFICE, AND WOULD LEAVE A STING, A RESENTMENT, A BITTER MEMORY, UPON WHICH TERMS OF PEACE WOULD REST, NOT PERMANENTLY, BUT ONLY AS UPON QUICKSAND."

The Democratic party must take the responsibility of a peace treaty which is "built upon quicksand" and which is sure to be provocative of another great war in the near future.

The Republican party may be but little better, but it has no responsibility of having made such an undemocratic peace in violation of all its previous professions and pretended principles.

Then, too, if we are to credit the statement of Congressman Longworth of Ohio, a leading Republican politician, the organization of the Republican House is a complete reversion to Cannonism—an organization of our legislative body too reactionary for us even ten years ago.

The workingmen are right. The country needs a new party.

LEARNING IN THE RIGHT WAY

After the preliminaries and the fundamental principles of any study or art are mastered, just what is your course with respect to putting the results of your application before the public?

Are you studying solely for the benefit of outsiders, either to instruct or to entertain them?

Or are you interested in the subject as a hobby or for mere personal gratification?

If you think it is fair to yourself to read and study and work to accomplish a definite purpose along any line and give nothing which you have derived from it to any one else, you are a selfish, ungenerous soul.

To know, and know well, for the sake of knowing, is commendable and shows that you have stability and brains, gray matter in the right place.

But the way to keep that gray matter, to enlarge its scope and develop the knowledge you get, is to give and give constantly of your knowledge.

Whatever you learn, learn it thoroughly.

Learn, not so that you will remember, but so that you cannot forget.

Then you will be ready to give when the demand comes.

No time wasted preparing merely for the public, but ready when the public needs, or is interested in what you can give.

It's Your Turn Now

Ye TOWN GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.—I have been a postal clerk for nearly forty-eight years. My rating has always been 100 per cent., and until the first of last July my salary had always been $1,200. Then it was raised to $1,400. I have had sickness in my family for twenty years and can barely "keep up appearances."

After these years of service I find that my faculties and health are rapidly declining, and I realize that the time is not far off when I shall have to resign. And no pension in sight!

What's the answer? W. W. W.

IF YOU'LL go back.
THROUGH YOUR forty-eight years,
IT WILL come to you.
THAT THE political parties.
OF THIS glorious land.
HAVE ALWAYS agreed.
THAT FOR patronage purpose.
THE POSTOFFICE job.
HAS BEEN quite a success.
AND SO it has been.
THAT MOST of the time.
OUR POSTMASTERS-GENERAL.
HAVE BEEN very wise men.
IN A party way.
AND WHEREVER you find.
A VERY wise man.
IN A party way.
YOU WILL usually find.
THAT THE gentleman.
IS AFRAID of himself.
AND AFRAID of the voters.
AND EVERYTHING else.
AND PERAMBULATES.
WITH HIS one good ear.
OR HIS two good ears.
SO CLOSE to the ground.
THAT HE can't hear a thing.
BUT A rumbling.
LIKE YOU hear in a shell.
AND FOOLISHLY think.
IT'S THE ocean's roar.
AND THIS poor party man.
THINKS THAT what he hears.
IS THE people's voice.
AND IT fills him with fear.
AND HE hasn't the nerve.
TO STEP right up.
LIKE MOST of the voters.
WOULD WANT him to do.
AND SAY right out.
"IT DOESN'T seem right.
WE SHOULD take this man.
FOR HIS full lifetime.
ON A miserly salary.
AND THEN when he's old.
"JUST THROW him out."
AND, ANYWAY.
JUST A postoffice clerk.
WHO IS hidden away.
IN A postoffice place.
ISN'T VERY important.
IN COMPARISON.
TO THE big dollar fellows.
WHO HAVE so many things.
FOR OUR Congress to do.
THAT IT has no time.
FOR A little guy.
LIKE A postoffice clerk.

I THANK you.

The Frog Pond

FOR UNCLE SAM'S MITT

The Willard-Dempsey title bout, Tex Rickard now intones,
May run as high, in gate receipts, as half a million bones.
And hanging on that self-same gate for fifty thousand smacks
Will be your Uncle Samuel and his amusement tax.

SECOND CALL FOR "I. T."

Are you paying your federal income tax on the instalment plan? All right. Then don't forget that the second "install" is due on or before Monday, June 16. It is due, by the calendar, on the 15th. But that falls on a Sunday this year. Collector John F. Malley says that payment on the 16th will relieve you from interest or penalty. But he urges payment before the final day to avoid the well-known rush.

WHAT'S IN THIS NAME, KNOCK OR BOOST?

Manchester (N. H.) adv. reads:
DOG lost, red and white male; strap on neck; name Woodrow. Ire Felch, Manchester.

WARNING TO TENANTS

Be nice to your janitor. You never can tell. Robert L. Royster, janitor of a Brockton apartment block for several years, has bought the property. As landlord he can raise the rent and everything.

CAN YOU BLAME HIM?

Sergeant Alvin C. York, the Tennessee hero, who annihilated a German battalion, was not worried about fame. Nor was he excited at banquets of honor in Manhattan. But he had one consuming worry on his mind. It was the same old story, such as Kipling sang in the lines:

"The wild hawk to the wind-swept sky,
The deer to the wholesome wold,
And the heart of a man to the heart of a maid,
As it was in the days of old."

Yes, Alvin has a "girl" down in sunny Tennessee. He hasn't heard from her in three weeks, and, as Alvin says: "I guess it's time I was getting home." New York banquets are all very well in their way, but, Oh, You Girl in Tennessee.

$ VS. H. C. L.

Washington dispatch says the government is beginning a plan of education to "teach people the value of a dollar." The government needs to hurry. At last accounts the value of a dollar was fast approaching the vanishing point so far as purchasing power went.

PIOUS IDEA

Berlin reports that General Ludendorff does not intend to visit the United States.

The University in Khaki

By Major F. B. Shaw, U. S. A.

AMERICANIZATION of our foreign born population is at present receiving the serious consideration of many of the States of the Union. How to mould the minds of this large body of our population into American ways of thinking with the resultant breaking up of the clannishness of national segregating into groups where no ray of Americanism ever falls, is no mean problem.

Many excellent plans, principally bearing on English education, have been evolved, but it has remained for our army to put into practical operation a scheme which is bound to be of the greatest influence.

Not only an English education but an education in the history and ideals of our country is given the foreign born soldiers.

The men the recruiting officers are taking are now promised that at the termination of their enlistment they may become fully naturalized, thereby saving two years over the civilian method. And, not the least attraction to ambitious men, is the opportunity to learn a trade while in the service and while receiving full pay and all allowances.

"The University in Khaki" is not a misnomer.

HOW PARIS LOST HER PRIMA DONNA

Another Victory for the U.S. Navy, Engineered by Cupid

ON Thursday he heard her sing.
On Friday he proposed.
On Saturday she accepted.
And on Sunday they were married.
And neither could understand a word the other said!

This was no ordinary "love at sight" affair, either, such as you occasionally read about—it was not "moonlight madness"; not youthful impulse.

For the man was Lieutenant-Commander Ervin Sackett Barnes Beecher, of the U. S. S. Cohasset; no callow fledgling, no emotional sailor, stirred by the touch of land after a long voyage, no youthful gilded son of wealth having a fling on Broadway, but a man thirty-six years old, who has been in the service for eleven years and has won his lieutenant-commandership by ability and strength of purpose and character. He is, moreover, own cousin of the famous Henry Ward Beecher.

And she was prima donna of the Paris Opera Comique—Mlle. Marie Thiery, the idol of Paris, and a sister of Laurent Thiery, of the French Senate, and of Mme. Luigini, widow of the composer and an officer of the Legion of Honor.

Now Paris mourns the loss of its favorite. But the Beechers are very happy.

How the "poor little rich boy," Vinson McLean, the "hundred million dollar baby," was killed by kindness, is another feature of next Sunday's Magazine Section. The extraordinarily painstaking care to safeguard him from any possible misfortune was the very thing that led to his tragic death.

Science has just upset everything the doctors believe about germ diseases. The "pneumonia germ" does not cause pneumonia! It is a vegetable! What does cause it is a newly discovered WORM; and you catch the disease by EATING the worm. This is now recognized to be similarly true of other diseases which have been listed as "bacterial." The bacteria are, on the other hand, the food of these life-destroying microscopic worms!

When is a girl not a girl? Are corsets "underwear"? Is a smallsized man not a man? Are eyeglasses jewelry? Is a male infant NOT a boy? These are some of the apparently incomprehensible questions raised by the new tax on luxuries which YOU will have to pay. Discussed next Sunday.

The final instalment of Haggard's wonderful Egyptian romance, "Moon of Israel." Of course you want to know how it ends!

"Bluebirds," by Carl Link, forms an attractive cover in the Magazine Section, in full color.

"Summer shopping suits," by Lady Duff-Gordon. You will want to shop for one at once!

And the Comics—!

"Father" takes an unexpected trip to Alabama, and winds up—you'd never guess where!

It's many miles from Mrs. Jiggs, though—that's an advantage!

One Thing Worth While
Don't Mistake Symptoms
The Parrot Cooked
Curls in Human Nature

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1919.

The fine thing about real accomplishment is that, once established, it cannot be taken away. You cannot take from Halley, the Englishman, that he predicted accurately the return of his comet—it returned after he was dead.

You can't take from Newton his discovery of the law of gravitation, that greatest formula enunciated by the human brain, "Directly as the mass, inversely as the square of the distance."

You can't take the discovery of America from Columbus; from Archimedes the method of discovering specific gravity; from Galileo the announcement that we go around the sun, that our earth is not the centre of the universe but a grain of sand in it; or from this country, first visited from Europe by slow moving caravels, the fact that the United States and her efficient sons in the NC-4 were first to cross through the air.

In all the uncertainty of life, one thing is worth while to make your mark. You can make it by cutting another notch on your gun after killing your man, or by hanging another scalp to dry in the smoke of your wigwam. You may make it by saying to the astronomers, "Point your telescope in that direction, and you will find another planet," as the English Clergyman Hussey did, explaining the strange movement of the planet Uranus by the existence of Neptune, invisible to our eyes, traveling around the sun once in 195 years on the outside edge of our little solar group.

It is for each man to make up his mind what possibility, if any there is, of his making a mark that will last, then keep at it until victory comes, or death ends the chase.

There are a thousand "artists" in the United States living well because they knew how to make straight hair curley. They give it to reinforced conceit, curl called the "marcel wave."

The owner of the curl pays cheerfully.

On the other hand, there has just died a lady, colored, known as Madame Walker. She was the richest colored person in the United States, lived in a fine house and was charitable. She had a patent scheme for taking the curl out of human hair, as it developed tightly frizzled under the hot African sun.

A visitor from Mars might say that a people, some wanting their curly hair made straight, others wanting straight hair made curly, must be silly. The visitor would be mistaken. It is everlastingly wanting something that makes the human race gradually develop.

The most important thing is not to mistake symptoms.

King Louis XVI., told of the Bastile's destruction, exclaimed, "Why, it is a revolt." The Duke who happened to be nearby and wiser, said: "No, sire, not a revolt, a revolution."

Voltaire had already written fifteen years before, "Everywhere are being sown the seeds of revolution, which will spring up without fail, but which I shall never behold."

Voltaire was right; he did not live to see it, although he came near it. The King was wrong and his mistake of symptoms cost him his throne and his head.

Soldiers have been fighting with college students in the streets. Soldiers and sailors actually under military discipline wave the red flag defiantly in the presence of officers.

After such manifestations, described on the front page of morning newspapers, you read an inside page of evening newspapers, "Demonstration unimportant, attributed to activities of irresponsible Bolsheviki."

There will be no revolution in this country, although revolutions will come undoubtedly in Europe, serious and bloody. It is important here for the sake of all not to mistake symptoms, and not to use the word "Bolshevik" as a cure-all for modern discontent, as they used to use abracadabra as a cure for the plague.

A gentlemen sent an expensive parrot home to his wife. When he got home the parrot was cooked, ready to eat. You know the rest.

"That parrot spoke five languages," said the annoyed husband.

"Well, why didn't it say something to me?" replied the wife.

The most distinguished doctors of New York have decided, 11 to 1, that the wisest kind of proposition would be the elimination of whiskey and similar poisons while allowing light wines and beer. The United States, now committed to absolute prohibition, might say of the doctors what the wife said about the parrot. The doctors didn't say anything until the bird was cooked.

Strike troubles threaten to sweep all of Canada. All western Canada is involved. The latest order is to stop the mails and all telegraph wires, including messages to newspapers. This probably will not last long, for no matter what happens, it does not pay a people or a class of people to put out their own eyes and make themselves deaf. In modern life the cessation of news distribution means blindness and deafness for the population.

Where Women Rule

A little village exists on the Cape of Shima, in Japan, the name of which in Japanese means "the Settlement of Nymphs." Woman in this village is the predominant partner. The chief industry is pearl-fishing, and it is the women who are the fishers. The men stay at home and do the housework. From the age of four girls are taught to dive, and the craft has always been jealously kept in the women's hands.

Recently some of the men became discontented and started to practice diving with the idea of themselves becoming pearl-fishers. The women, dreading the intensified competition, ordered the men to discontinue their diving, and as the men refused a boycott was declared against them. The sexes have been at war ever since, and finally the women expelled all the men from their homes and undertook in their clumsy, inexpert fashion to do the housework for themselves. The men have petitioned Parliament for their rights.
